Court rules today on firings

DEARBORN HEIGHTS—The Michigan Education Association today is holding off a 16-district teacher walkout, pending the decision of a three-judge panel which convenes this morning (Thursday).

The teachers vowed to walk out of their classrooms if the Wayne County Circuit Court did not reinstate 186 striking Crestwood District teachers.

A three-judge panel holds the fate of the teachers and 4,400 students in its hands. But the panel's decision will have a far-reaching effect on other school districts if teachers' unions in those districts decide to support the MEA and walk out of their classrooms.

THE PANEL, composed of judges Joseph Rashid, George Bowles, and Thomas Roumell, heard stat ments from Erwin Ellman, attorney for the MEA, and Edward Homeier, Crestwood School District attorney.

Ellman contended that the school board had acted illegally in firing the teachers, because under the state's Tenure Act a teacher is entitled to a hearing and counsel before dismissal.

Ellman also cited the state's Public Employment Relations Act (PERA), which he said provides in (Section 1) that termination of striking teachers cannot take place without a hearing.

Ellman conceded, however, that Section 6 of the act states that a "hearing can follow" the dismissal, and he argued that such a provision is "unconstitutional."

Ellman referred to rulings on the Trenton and Gibraltar school districts, and contended that these cases could be used as "precedents."

"Even a pregnant mother's welfare checks cannot be withheld unless she is given reasons and due process," said Ellman.

"Forbidding teachers to engage in strike activities is involuntary servitude and a violation of the 13th Amendment to the Constitution," said Ellman.

The lawyer said courts have recognized that a striker has sufficient right to his job to be considered employed.

JUDGE ROUMELL questioned the board's right to change the status of the Crestwood situation, when both parties were ordered previously to maintain a status quo.

"Why didn't the MEA take us to court when we gave the teachers salary increases?" asked Homeier. "This was a change in status too."

Judge Bowles asked Ellman: "Aren't you driven to the position of embracing the Tenure Act as a key to your defense?"

The judge implied that PERA would permit hearings after the teacher firings and, therefore, back the board's action and permit hearings at a later day.

"That scheme is constitutionally unfounded," replied Ellman.

THE CRESTWOOD schools have reopened to nearly normal school days, with 90 per cent of the newly hired teachers, and 90 per cent of the students reporting to class, according to the board.

Eight of the Crestwood teachers have "dropped out" of school, presumably due to harassment by pickets.

In case of an area-wide teachers walkout, there is expected to be mixed support from school districts in Observer & Eccentric communities.

About half the teachers are expected to walk out in Wayne-Westland and Plymouth school districts. Probably less than half will walk out in Garden City, about two-thirds of the Redford Union teachers will hit the streets, and almost all the teachers in the South Redford School District will go out. Teachers in Livonia and Clarenceville school districts aren't part of the pact and will remain in school.

PEA readies for teacher walkout

PLYMOUTH—A coordinated bargaining agreement ratified by the Plymouth Education Association could still put Plymouth school teachers on the streets this week.

Originally scheduled for yesterday (Wednesday), teachers in Plymouth and 15 other school districts in Wayne County were expected to walkout in support of fired teachers in the Crestwood School District in Dearborn Heights.

Meeting Monday afternoon at Plymouth Salem High School, teachers discussed plans for the walkout. The meeting was not without debate as several teachers reportedly questioned the union leadership on breaking a no strike clause in the current two-year contract which was settled last fall.

PEA President Dolly Carter said she would not attempt to justify her actions or those of members who walk off the job. "I know that I am breaking the law and my contract, but teachers in Plymouth feel that what is at stake is far greater than our own individual security and our own individual jobs."

Meeting on Saturday, the school board vowed a tough stance in the event of a teacher walkout. The board issued a prepared statement saying it would not extend the school calendar, renegotiate the contract or alter vacation days as a result of a possible walkout.

That action was followed by a letter to teachers from the school district noting that teachers who took part in the coordinated bargaining walkout would be subject to disciplinary action including loss of pay and fringe benefits.

An emergency school board meeting was scheduled for last night with board members originally planning to discuss action as a result of the teacher walkout. Despite the dely, the board still met to firm up the board's position and formalize the disciplinary threats included in the letter to teachers.

School Supt. John M. Hoben called the threatened walkout a "secondary boycott no matter how you look at it. We will do everything possible to keep the schools open."

When asked what would happen if a teacher was legitimately ill on the day of the scheduled walkout, Hoben replied: "There will be no excuses for illness."

Opposition by parents has also marked the debate with more than 200 showing up on Monday at Salem High School expecting to meet with the teachers. When they arrived they were informed that the meeting was closed to the public and the press.

Many waited around for more than an hour, awaitng some decision on the part of the teachers. By the conclusion of the meeting at 6 p.m., only a handful remained to learn that there had been no change in the PEA position and that the union leadership intended to continue to honor the coordinated bargaining agreeement.

Earlier reports in one Detroit daily noted that the strike was scheduled as a one-day walkout, but Mrs. Carter said that if the walkout took place it would last indefinitely.

"This is not a one-day sympathy strike," she said. "We have no intention of returning to our classrooms in the 17 districts until the Crestwood situation is resolved to our satisfaction and every striking teacher in the coordinated bargaining districts is returned to his or her position."

The PEA president was also queried by the membership on what action would be taken against teachers who did not stay out of the classroom if a walkout was called for.

"There is no legal punitive action that the PEA can take against people who are abiding by the contract. It's as simple as that."She added, however, that despite legal or any other punitive action, "life can be made hell for them."

When asked later how that could be accomplished, she said, "Oh, I don't know. I suppose I'd have to leave that up to the individual teachers to determine."

If the strike does take place, it will mark the second time this school year that teachers will be out of the classroom. Lacking a settlement on the current contract last fall, teachers remained out for the first three weeks of school until a settlement was reached.

If schools are forced to close as a result of the possible Crestwood sympathy walkout, it will cost the district an estimated $13,000 in state aid for each day the schools are closed. At the same time the school district could save up to $50,000 each day in teacher salaries.

MEETING PRIOR TO Monday's Plymouth Education Association meeting were PEA President Dolly Carter, Wayne-Westland Education Association President Al Turrpa (left) and Crestwood Education Association chief negotiator John Lundberg. All three spoke to PEA members urging them to support Crestwood teachers and honor the coordinated bargaining agreement by staying off the job Wednesday. Delayed at least 24 hours by a subsequent circuit court action, the walkouts could still take place. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

Sign rules stiffened

CANTON—Township board members and planning commissioners have adopted a "get-tough" attitude toward all signs in Canton. At a joint study session of the township board and planning commission Tuesday night, an interim zoning ordinance was developed concerning the location, size, shape of all signs in the township.

According to the supervisor, the ordinance will pertain to all signs in the township, including real estate, political, business, and illuminated signs, as well as billboards.

"There will be no new billboards in Canton, assuming the ordinance passes and is legal," says Greenstein. "Developers will be limited to three signs and one must be on the property they are developing. Each sign can be no larger than 20 square feet, and the deposit to erect each placard has been increased to $100."

Prospective builders of all illuminated signs, according to the proposed ordinance, must have a permit and the signs cannot be "a distraction."

Political signs can be erected only 20 days before any primary or general election, but they must be removed within two days after an election.

Several other ordinance changes were considered at the study session, the most significant concerned the "schedule of regulations" which has been altered to effect a moratorium on Planned Unit Developments (PUD's).

All ordinance changes will be open to public discussion on Jan. 28, at the next planning commission meeting. At that time there will be a public hearing on the proposed changes.

Although the changes are labeled "interim" until the new master land use plan is adopted, it is conceivable that the zoning amendments may become permanent fixtures of the complete zoning ordinance that will accompany the master land use plan.

Canton may lose CETA funding

By RICHARD GOLD

CANTON—Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein said Monday that quick steps must be taken to avoid a loss of $40,000 in federal funds.

Canton Township was eligible for $50,000 of this money in July, but according to Greenstein, procedural errors were made and Canton must now seek alternatives for procuring getting the money.

In July the township hired six firemen, with the understanding that the $50,000 would go to pay for them. However, the rules under which CETA money is distributed stipulate that all people hired and paid for by CETA dollars must be unemployed for at least 30 days. Only one of the firemen met this prerequisite.

Each fireman was hired at a salary of $10,000, and the CETA funds were intended to cover 83 per cent of their salaries.

Currently, however, only one of the firemen is being paid for by the CETA funds. The other five men are being paid directly out of the township coffers.

The supervisor sees several options open to the township to recoup the funds. But one option is not to lay off the firemen for 30 days and rehire them as some municipalities have. "There's no question that the firemen are needed. We cannot afford to lay them off for a month and then rehire them. Right now that seems to be out of the question."

However, what Greenstein does see as a possibility is the creation of several new posts in the township. This move, he claims, would effectively kill two birds with one stone. The money would be recouped and unmet needs of the township would be fulfilled.

The supervisor says that the most practical move would be to hire an ordinance officer and three fire dispatchers. "Right now we have a lot of ordinances in the township and no one to enforce them. The building department can only enforce a few ordinances. We'd like to hire a full time man to rove in the township and give him the power to issue tickets where there are ordinance infractions."

Carl Parsell added, "We legislate new ordinances all the time; it's pointless unelss we get someone to back them up."

Greenstein would also like to hire three fire dispatchers, one for each shift. "It was Carl's idea and I think it's great, " explained the supervisor. "What we want to do is hire three physically handicapped people to work as dispatchers, and that way we can free up one fireman a shift. The way it is now, we have one qualified fire fighter tied up for every shift answering the phones and dispatching."

Although the supervisor has not yet hired anyone, he indicated that action must be taken soon in order to recoup the CETA funds.

Students design 'big ear' to track bird calls

By DENNY COFFMAN

A group of engineering students stood watching while a crane lifted a strange-looking contraption made of pipes, beer cans, and a large red disc.

The crane then dropped the device from a height of 10 feet, and the students cheered wildly and snapped photographs as pipes were bent, wires snapped, and the apparatus turned into what looked like a plumber's nightmare.

It was assigned by instructor Tim Scott, 36902 Munger, Livonia, as an example of what might happen in a "real world" situation.

The "real world" situation dreamt up by Scott, was an attempt to locate and isolate a rare breed of Bolivian bird.

THE PROBLEM was similar to that faced by space scientists, who have to develop lunar landers that can function without human intervention.

The 150 freshmen were divided into eight groups, and each group produced a design that would have to function after being dropped from a helicopter.

Although the college was unable to obtain a helicopter from the Michigan National Guard for the drop, a crane was rigged in the engineering laboratory to produce the same effect.

"The real purpose of the experiment was to develop ingenuity by using both mechanical and electrical engineering techniques.

"The off-beat experiment developed interest and motivated the students," said Scott.

The deadline for the designs was shortened by a day when students were told the fictitious "chief engineer" for the fictitious company was leaving town on vacation.

Scott also announced that because of an economic cutback, project financing would be curtailed.

THE DESIGNS resembled one another in that all used lead pipes for the legs, and empty beer and dog food cans between the pipes as makeshift shock absorbers.

A large disc and microphone, called a "big ear," was designed to rotate on each device until it "heard" the cry of the bird being sought.

"The important thing about a project of this type," said Scott, "is it teaches our students about their dependency on the abilities of one another.

"It also was a theoretical example showing the different factors that influence this type of undertaking."

PROBABLY the single most important lesson learned by the future engineers was compromise.

A company engineering department is as prone to corporate politics and "irrelevant" influences as is any other department.

The final design, the students learned, is also dependent on compromise because no single design is the one best design.

Some were better able to withstand impact, some held up better in strong winds, while others had superior electronic components.

"With some of the designs, everything that could break, broke," said Scott.

Two of the eight designs survived the "landing" and went on to function as intended. A recording of Bolivian bird calls was played after each device landed or crashed.

Because each was "programmed" to receive only one type of bird sound, the sensing disc spun until it heard that sound, and then remained pointed at the sound.

An imaginary bird watcher would then know exactly where to look for the strange bird by walking in the direction the disc was pointing.

"Some designs were too massive, using more material than was needed to do the job," said Scott.

THE STUDENTS made scale models and tested them in wind tunnels before building the full-size devices.

"The students learned as much by destroying the devices as they did by building them," said Scott. "But the main purpose is to show them what kinds of problems they will get hit with when they get out of school."

Scott believes that despite the recession, engineering graduates should have no trouble finding jobs.

SCOTT, 32, is a Chrysler engineer, and knows about industrial ups and downs, but is convinced that other industries will take up the employment slack created by the automobile industry.

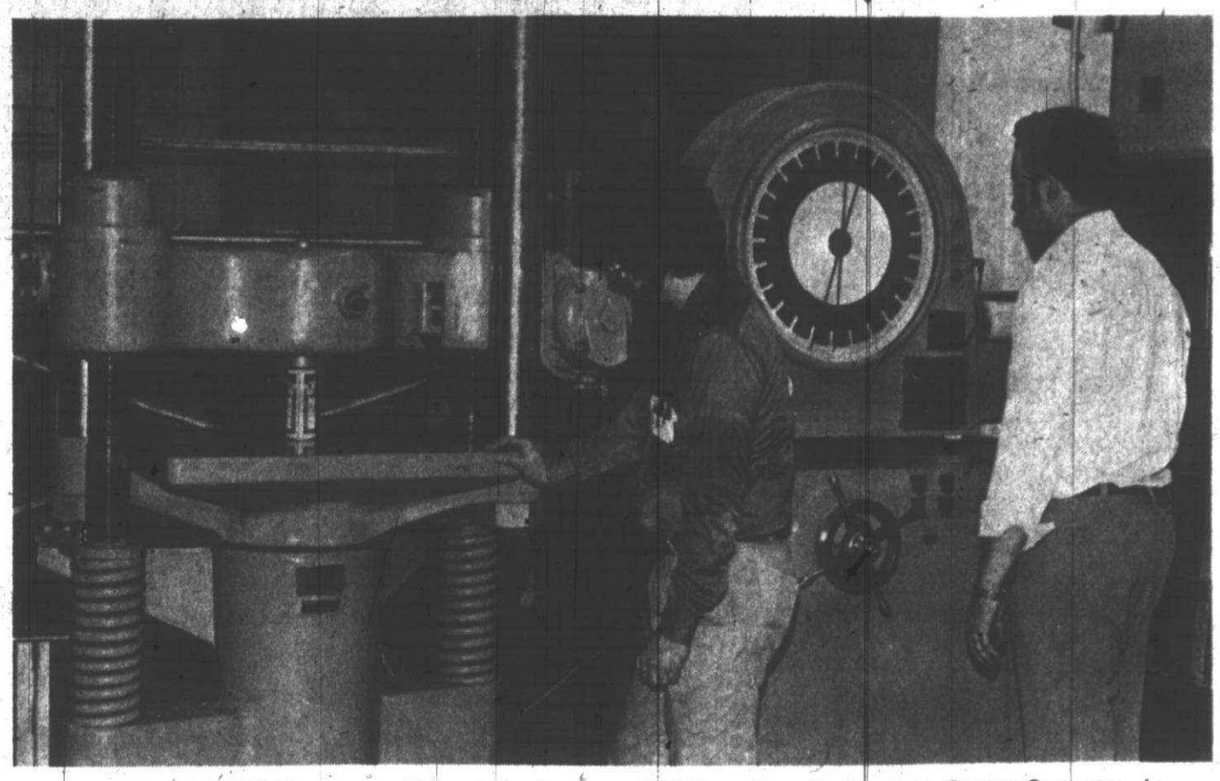
"Very few of our graduates won't find a job. The electrical power and nuclear industries are going wild."

There are 600 students enrolled in the U-M Dearborn engineering program, out of a total school enrollment of about 6,000.

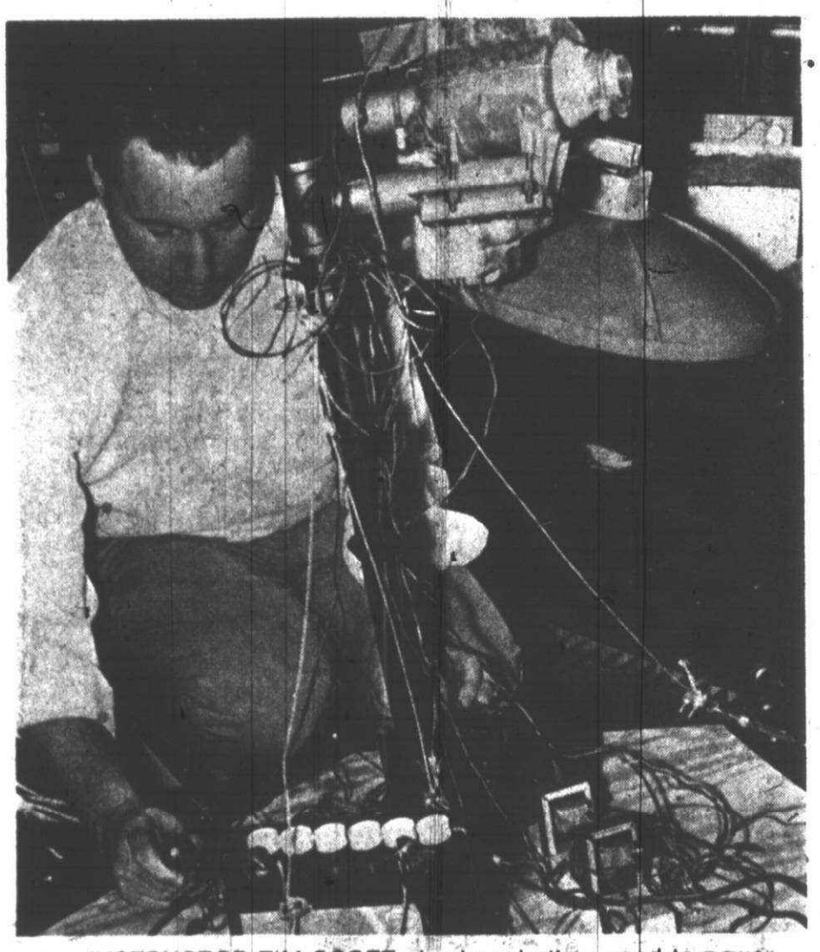
Scott expects a demand for engineers in the petroleum industry, as new pipelines are built and more offshore drilling takes place.

"Half of the engineering graduates used to go to the auto industry, but not anymore. Not for a while, anyway," said Scott.

"American ingenuity" will be getting its toughest test in the next few years, and the practical experiments conducted by these students may help the nation find an even more elusive bird in years to come—a new source of energy.



WHAT LOOKS like a can of beer is really a shock absorber getting a compression test by U-M Dearborn instructors Emery Seaman, Jr. (left) and Tim Scott.



INSTRUCTOR TIM SCOTT checks a battery used to power the "rare bird detector" sensing device. This was one of the devices that did not survive a 10-foot drop.

7.5% FOR '75

Whipping Inflation Now isn't easy.

At the very least, it takes a thoughtful and prudent evaluation of your financial resources, and what these resources are doing for you. Are they doing enough?

Are they providing you with the security, stability and the income you want and need?

Are they, for example, earning a full 7.5% interest at Michigan National Bank?

That 7.5% is the highest bank interest you can get in the Metropolitan Detroit Area. All it takes is $1,000 or more on deposit for 6 years. And the interest is compounded daily, which is an effective yield of 7.8%.

You can even have an interest check mailed to you quarterly, semi-annually or annually. And all deposits are insured up to $40,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

The prudent person. Our new 7.5% account. They could make beautiful money together.

Plane crash kills one, two injured

SURVEYING THE wreckage of a plane crash which resulted in the death of a Farmington Hills man and critically injured two other persons are local police officials and agents from Federal Aviation Administration(FAA). (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

WESTLAND—The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is investigating the crash of a four-passenger airplane Tuesday in Westland which killed a Farmington Hills man and injured two other persons.

Killed was Robert Barnes, 31668 Hall, Farmington Hills. Westland Police officials are unsure of his age. Listed as critically injured in Wayne County General Hospital are Marie Chase, 17, of 34529 Fountain Blvd. Westland; and the plane's pilot, John Garrett, 44, of 15504 Hemloch, Detroit.

Westland Police Sgt. Gerald Triltsch said the plane was on a pleasure flight from Westland National Airport, Ford Rd., west of Hix, when it experienced engine problems. The craft attempted a landing, flew east past the airport and crashed after one of its wings hit a utility wire on Hix Rd. The crash occurred at 4:30 p.m.

THE SINGLE-ENGINED Beechcraft Bonanza 35 cartwheeled through a portion of the Willow Creek Estates, missing a four-unit townhouse by four feet before coming to a halt, according to witnesses.

Donna Kriedman, of 38365 Greenwood, who lives in the complex which nearly was involved in the accident, gives her account of the crash.

"I was upstairs when I heard the crash. There wasn't much noise. It just sounded like metal scrapping against the pavement," said Miss Kriedman. "My little sister, Lisa, thought a truck had hit the house."

Miss Kriedman said she could hear the surviving passengers talking in what seemed to her to be normal tones of voice after the crash.

Westland Police Cpl. Emory Price, who was on the scene during the rescue operation, said it took fire department personnel about 20 minutes to pry passengers from the aircraft. Residents who approached the scene shortly after the accident extinguished a small fire with snow, according to witnesses.

FRED LUDWIG, a resident in the Willow Creek area, said he could hear the propeller cutting through the ground as the plane crashed.

"After hearing the noise, I came running across the field to the accident," he said. "The doors of the plane were jammed shut. All three passengers were still in the plane after the crash."

This is the second airplane crash occurring in Westland since city incorporation. The last happened in 1966.

Student weathers recession by scrimping on necessities

By ROBERT A. SKLAR

ROCHESTER—She's 24, single and a student. She's also hard hit by today's recessed economy.

So, it's scarcely shocking that Carol Swantek talks darkly about her economic outlook. Carol says she forecasts even gloomier times to come.

"I feel very pessimistic," she said. "Things appear pretty bleak already and likely to get worse before getting better.

"I'm not an economist. But I just keep thinking the whole situation is so terrible."

A senior at Oakland University (O.U.), Carol is on course to receive a bachelor's degree in anthropology and sociology next April.

FOR MORE than two years, Carol has lived in the Oak Hills Apartments on Miller Road. She moved to Oak Hills from an apartment in a converted house right down the street, where she lived alone for about six months.

Carol's parents, former San Antonio, Tex. residents who have been Farmington residents for practically a decade, pay her tuition at O.U.

But Carol foots all her other expenses. . .rent, utilities, food, clothes, medical bills plus car repairs and maintenance.

Besides being a full-time student, Carol works 20 hours a week for O.U.'s Office of Commuter Services (OCS).

CALLED A student intern, Carol assists OCS Director Rosiland Andreas. Based in O.U.'s Oakland Center, OCS centralizes several key campus services for students, particularly commuters.

To all students, OCS will supply on request legal aid, locker access and SEMTA (Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority) bus schedules. Specifically for commuters, OCS acts as a coordinator of car pools and clearinghouse of available apartments.

"It's really absurd what they're paying me," observed Carol, starting her sixth month as an OCS employe, "and I'm one of the highest-paid student workers.

"I'M ALSO getting more taken out of my paycheck, even though I haven't changed my economic status on my income-tax forms."

Consequently, continued Carol, "I'm not able to save anything at all; I haven't had a savings account in years. Money just won't go as far as it used to.

Meeting her share of the monthly rent at Oak Hills marks Carol's greatest single expenditure. Carol must work approximately 26 hours to meet that share.

TRYING TO keep up her car, a 1968 Ford Mustang, has proven nothing but a financial nightmare, Carol says.

"I almost can't afford to drive it any more," she said. "It's costing me too much to maintain in terms of gas.

"It has already been through major repairs like a new exhaust system, a new transmission, new brakes and new tires. Now it only requires general upkeep like tune-ups.

"But I even quit smoking, and I was a chain smoker, to have enough money to buy gas. I'm thinking quite seriously about selling my car."

FOOD COSTS only rate as Carol's third biggest money guzzler. The reason is simple.

"I spend very little for food because I simply can't afford it," explained Carol. "I only spend five to seven percent of my weekly take-home pay on things to eat."

Carol and her roommates each shop and pay for their own food. Carol says her diet spans "milk, eggs, canned fruit, fresh vegetables, cheese, yogurt, soups and lots of spaghetti and macaroni. It excludes meat.

"I buy inexpensive, healthy things that are really filling," she said. "And I bake my own bread.

"I'M NOT a vegetarian, but it has to be on sale or I have to have money left over before I buy any meat.

"I'm definitely not starving," Carol added. "But, in terms of what I'd rather be eating, I'd rather be eating a lot more meat than I can afford."

Last year, Carol says she could've belonged to a food cooperative on campus.

"But quantity-wise," she said, "a bag of food from the co-op contained too much for one person to consume before things began to spoil."

TO FURTHER cut down daily costs, Carol says she has turned more thrifty with respect to:

• Entertainment—"I either go to student movies on campus, or to other people's houses. Really, that's the extent of it."

• Clothes—"I have four pairs of jeans and they're all I ever wear; I don't have to get dressed up for work. Anyhow, clothes never were something I would spend a lot of money on."

• Vacations—"I just got back from one, my first in nearly two years. I hitchhiked to Grayling, canoed down the Au Sable River, then hitchhiked home again. I was gone five days."

PLAINLY, adversity has set in for her, according to Carol.

As she put it, "Being a student and not making much money, I really do look forward to getting out and having a little fun, or staying home and having a good meal, or going for a drive somewhere.

"But now, I can't do any of those things. So, when school becomes frustrating, there's no immediate relief—I'm boxed in recreationally and socially."

"I'd rather not get into a career field right away," she said. "I'm looking forward to getting a job and making some money so I can travel. I'd like to go out west and to Europe."

Carol footnotes how such traveling should prove a giant stride toward helping her dim the memory of a fixed, inflation-scared income.

Volunteers help prepare tax forms

Supervisor Robert Greenstein and treasurer Carl Parsell announced Monday afternoon that the township has volunteers to assist in a tax help program.

Greenstein explained, "The tax laws have been changed twice in the last several years. There are rebates available from the state and the township in certain instances, and we want to assist our residents in applying for them."

While the tax help is primarily for senior citizens and disabled veterans, "hardship cases" will also be assisted.

"The tax forms for the state are very complicated and a lot of our senior citizens may have problems in filling them out. We want to provide help so that they can get what's coming to them in the way of a rebate," explained the supervisor.

Greenstein hopes that enough volunteers will be available to man the tax help office at the township offices two days and one night a week.

"Presently, we have several volunteers from the Jaycees and a few senior citizens, but we could use more help," said the supervisor.

All volunteers will be attending classes on tax help. The Ann Arbor branch of the Michigan Department of the Treasury will be conducting a class in Ann Arbor on Jan. 8 at the Civil Defense Building on the North Campus of the University of Michigan, and the Detroit branch of the Michigan Department of the Treasury will hold a class at the township hall at 2 p.m. on Jan. 10. Others interested in volunteering time for the tax help program are encouraged to attend one of the classes.

While the township is attempting to assist residents in their applications for tax rebates, they are not guaranteeing results.

Carl Parsell explained, "We are encouraging people to try and get rebates where they are deserved, but just because we assist them in filling out the forms doesn't mean that they will automatically be given a rebate. Each case for the township will be judged on its individual merits."

Gullen to speak to Canton Chamber

GEORGE E. GULLEN JR.

George E. Gullen Jr. will be the guest speaker for the Canton Chamber of Commerce dinner dance, Saturday, Jan. 25. The event will be held at the Hawthorne Valley Country Club, Westland.

In 1963 he was named vice president of industrial relations of American Motors.

He has been active in youth and career-advancement and was president of the YMCAs of the United States. He is also active in the mental health field and is a member of the Michigan Mental Health Advisory Council.

A 6 p.m. cocktail hour will precede the 7 p.m. dinner which will be followed by dancing. Tickets at $10 per person are available through the Canton Chamber of Commerce, 41652 Ford Rd., Canton Township.

Friend of youth dies

With the death of Eugene P. Stermer, 50, Friday, Jan. 3, the young people of Plymouth have lost one of their strongest champions.

In addition to being chairman of the board of Plymouth Youth, Inc. at the time of his death, informally Mr. Stermer was friend to hundreds of the area's young people.

Mr. Stermer and his wife, Harriet, lived at 41339 Ivywood Lane in Lake Pointe Village, Plymouth Township. Their children, Richard J. Staff of Palo Alto, Calif., Michael J. Staff, Sturgis and Martha Staff of Plymouth, most recently living in Germany, had grown and left the family home.

Still, Mr. Stermer kept a close tie with the neighborhood youngsters. They called him the "pumpkin man" because each Halloween he bought and carved pumpkins for them to take home and display.

At Christmas time, he frequently played Santa in various district schools, most recently at the New Morning School.

His co-worker and close friend, Jack Bologna, says, "If there was a highlight of Gene's life, it was working with kids. For him, living was giving."

Mr. Stermer was president and cofounder with Dr. George Odiorne of George Odiorne Associates, Inc. of Plymouth, a management consultant firm. They founded the company in 1968 and Dr. Odiorne is presently dean of the business school at the University of Massachusetts.

Bologna recalls the many times Mr. Stermer would take time from his business to talk with young people who had problems, saying "he was father to so many."

He was a graduate of Kalamazoo College and is survived by three brothers of Kalamazoo, Lawrence, David and Hilmer; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stermer of Vicksburg, and three sisters, Mrs. Donna Holtz of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Marlene Tuckey of Kalamazoo and Mrs. Barbara Riesterer of Paw Paw.

As an active member of the Republican party, Mr. Stermer held the position of Republican chairman for the Plymouth area of the second Congressional District several years ago. He was also a member of the Kiwanis Club, American Management Association, and American Society of Training Directors. He taught industrial relations at the University of Michigan and before forming his own company was with Ford Motor Company for 17 years.

Services will be held at the Schrader Funeral Home at 3 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 9 with the Rev. Charles Erickkson officiating. Burial will be at Riverside Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be: State Sen. Carl Pursell, John Thomas, Clare Pike, Dale Yagiela, James Houck, James Jabara, Robert Huddy and Bologna. Honorary pallbearers include: Rep. Marvin Esch, Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch and James McKeon.

Recruits boost bureau's impact

A special project to broaden the membership of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit has been very successful.

This word comes from the drive chairman, Philip E. Benton, Jr., Ford executive.

Benton said the recruiting program, "Project: Responsibility," resulted in 30 new member firms and verbal assurances from other potential member companies.

"Our goal when we announced this campaign was to broaden membership in and support for the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit so the bureau could do an even more effective job of representing the interests of consumers in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb county areas."

He called the response gratifying and added: "It looks like we're getting our message across to the business community-- particularly with companies that don't interface directly with consumers.

"It's evident that the concept of 'what's good for the parts is good for the whole' is starting to penetrate. In addition, the contacts we've made in this pilot project lead us to believe there will be a whole new wave of support for the bureau's goals and methods as area businessmen come into a new fiscal year."

The recruiting teams headed by Charles W. Babcock, secretary-treasurer of C. W. Babcock and Son and Glen W. Warren, manager of owner relations, General Motors, led on successful recruiting of member firms.

The team headed by Robert Hague, vice president, finance, Federal Mogul reported the highest dollar total. Marvin Danto, owner of Danto Investment Co., was the top individual recruiter.

City paving prompts debate

By RICHARD GOLD

PLYMOUTH—At Monday night's public hearing, the city commission voted to defer action on part of its proposed 1975-76 street improvement program until Jan. 20.

The move came after public pressure and City Manager Fred Yockey's admission that "we haven't done our homework on some of these streets."

Harold Guenther prompted the delaystating, "At this time I don't think I am well enough informed to vote responsibly."

The commissioners will meet next week to discuss the paving program and the vote will be taken at the next city commission meeting, Jan. 20.

The street paving was proposed for portions of seven streets in the city, and most citizens at the public hearing were opposed to it. All seven streets are listed as "inadequate," mVaning that they are either unpaved or in a state of decay.

Discussion of the paving was handled a street at a time and there appeared to be three primary reasons for the citizen dissatisfaction: safety problems would arise because better paved streets would attract more traffic; the cost of paving. to the individual homeowner would be too high for the "questionable benefit" derived from paving; and in several instances, park land would be reduced.

The seven streets under consideration are: Burroughs Avenue, Harding to Fairground; Coolidge Street, Hartsough to Burroughs; Hamilton Street, Ann Arbor Trail to south end; Herald Street, Maple to 230 feet south and from Wing to Linden; Maple Avenue, Hamilton to Virginia; and Virginia Avenue, Fair to Maple.

All streets affected would be paved 28 feet wide with concrete and integral curbs. Sidewalks and drainage facilities would also be installed.

Street repair costs are divided between the city and the homeowners who live on the streets scheduled for repair. The city pays 25 per cent of the tab, and for all intersections while the residents on each side of the street are assessed for the other 75 per cent. They are billed on the frontage space they have on the street. They can pay their assessment either in lump sum or over time with interest.

The city issues general obligation bonds to cover its part of the project, and it pays it portion out of the debt retirement fund which is provdided for in the general tax levies.

A second issue called special assessment bonds is floated to cover the residents' portion of the paving costs. These bonds are paid for by the citizens who are assessed for the street repair.

The estimated cost of paving the street has gone up from last year's $20 a foot to a projected price of $26 a foot. Nonetheless, Yockey says that if bids are accepted for the spring the city will get a good price because local contractors are suffering from the stagnant economy.

The city's central argument for street paving, however, concerned the cost of maintenance of the "inadequate streets" versus the cost of paving them. Engineer Alan Gove claimed that 40 per cent of the money the city receives from the state's weight and gas tax goes to 20 per cent of the city's roads. Rather than continue to pay such high maintenance costs, he suggested the streets be paved. He said that eventually this would proved to be more economical.

Yockey said, "What we're trying to do is to build streets that are maintenance free. We are going to install all the drainage systems, sidewalks, driveways and sewers."

A.R. Krachenberg of 616 Herald Street appeared to summarize much of the resident sentiment when he replied, "It seems to me that we are spending a great deal of money on relatively little used streets. I question if this is the most efficient way to utilize these funds."

Krachenberg also questioned the alleged amount of maintenance the unpaved streets were receiving. Several in the audience agreed. John Kolb of 351 Maple said that he had never seen a maintenance truck on Maple in five years. "That's not too costly," he commented.

Another citizen, Carrie Barnhart stated that much of the attraction of Plymouth was its age. She said, " If you want to go to a city that has paving everywhere, you can move to Livonia. A lot of people moved here and live here because they like the atmosphere of dirt roads and old houses."

Even though the vote has been delayed until Jan. 20, the commission resolved to publicize a "notice of intent to issue bonds for 1975 Street improvement projects." The bonds would be for no more than $200,000 and would cover the city's portion of the projected cost of paving.

State gets more funds to restore fish, wildlife

Michigan has been allocated almost $1.7 million in federal funds for sport fish and wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs.

The funds are part of more than $33 million apportioned for distribution in December nationwide by Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton — bringing to $70.3 million the amount made available to the states by the federal government this fiscal year.

In fiscal '74 a total of $63 million was made available to the states.

MICHIGAN'S apportionment includes $560,670 for fish restoration, $1.5 million for wildlife restoration, and $136,500 for hunter safety programs.

The funds will be used nationwide to finance fish and wildlife programs. Of the total available, $53.5 million is for wildlife restoration and $16.8 million for fish restoration.

Federal aid funds are made available to the states in two apportionments annually as tax receipts become available at the Treasury Department.

This year a preliminary apportionment of $37 million was made on July 1 for fiscal year '75. The second apportionment, announced Dec. 22, represents an additional $33 million.

Funds for wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs come from an 11 per cent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition and a 10 per cent tax on pistols and revolvers.

Distribution is based on a formula which takes into account the number of hunting license holders and the area of each state.

These funds may be used on approved state wildlife projects such as acquisition of land suitable for habitat, development and management of habitat and research to aid in managing game species.

Distribution of hunter safety funds is based on the relative population of each state and may be used for state hunter education programs, including construction, operation and maintenance of public target ranges. The states, however, may also use these funds for wildlife restoration projects.

FISH RESTORATION funds come from a 10 per cent excise tax on fishing rods, reels, creels, and artificial baits, lures and flies.

Distribution is made according to a formula based on the number of fishing license holders and the area of each state, including coastal and Great Lakes waters.

Activities performed by the states include purchase of land and water areas; construction and rehabilitation of lakes; development of access sites and facilities for fishermen and research in sport fisheries management.

The states receiving the most for wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs were Alaska with almost $2.5 million; California with $2.3 million; Texas with almost $2.6 million; and Pennsylvania with $2.2 million. Michigan ranked fifth, followed by Montana with almost $1.5 million.

Alaska, California and Texas received the most for fish restoration, each receiving $842,500. Minnesota was next with $677,150, followed by Michigan's $560,670 and Wisconsin with $614,700.

EMU aids 'stop-outs'

Grape-picking in France, in-service training with the State Police, and volunteer service on a Monatana Indian reservation are among alternatives on file at Eastern Michigan University for students who decide to leave college for a term or two.

The students, called stop-outs, can seek alternatives in three areas—study, service and work.

Charles Minneman, director of Religious Affairs and founder of the files, believes that a well-guided "stop-out can be a future stop-back."

33 killed on snowmobiles

As of October there were a total of 430,000 snowmobiles registered in the state and an unknown number operated on private property without a registration.

There were a total of 1,488 accidents and these resulted in 33 deaths and 1,388 people injured. Compared with the previous season, there was an increase of eight in deaths, a decrease of 155 in the number injured and 67 less accidents.

The type of accidents was broken down into categories: overturning, 322; other non-collision, 239; collisions with fixed objects, 442.

The collisions were broken down into kinds: with motor vehicles in transport, 296; with parked motor vehicles, 86; with pedestrians, 16; with animals, six; with trains, eight; with other objects, 72.

Of the accidents, the majority (1,191) occurred on off-roadway areas while 297 happened on roads.

Twenty-five of the persons killed last season were in the 15-44 age group, seven were older, one was younger. Of the number injured, 1,000 were in the 15-44 age bracket.

The 1,488 accidents were analyzed on the basis of light conditions--729 happened in daylight, 641 in darkness with no lights, 24 took place in darkness with lights, 73 happened at either dusk or dawn and conditions for 21 weren't stated.

INSULATE

Proper insulation can save you hundreds of dollars in heating and cooling costs over the life of your home. Check your attic. If it doesn't have at least six inches of high quality insulation, talk to your insulating contractor, or us, about installing more. We can recommend qualified contractors...even arrange financing. It's all part of a Michigan Public Service Commission program to help conserve energy.

Weather stripping, storm windows and doors, or insulating glass all help reduce heat loss, too.

Tim Richard writes

A youngster bought candy in a grocery store, and paid no sales tax. Later he bought candy at the stand in the movie house and did pay sales tax.

If you buy your dog hamburger or a soup bone, you avoid sales tax. If you give him dog food, you get taxed.

An affluent person—today, that's anyone with a job— goes to the doctor, gets a prescription for his cold and pays no sales tax. The laid-off auto worker buys common aspirin and pays a sales tax.

YOU CAN EXPECT such complexities in the real world when folks get sold an oversimplified bill of goods. Voters bought that oversimplification from the Michigan Citizens Lobby last Nov. 5 when they voted to repeal part of the sales tax.

The MCL proposal admittedly had some merit. The sales tax is regressive, taking a higher proportion of lower incomes than of higher incomes. But the MCL simple solution had two major faults:

First, it ignored many other burdensome taxes. Historically, it's hard to get the public and its lawmakers keyed up for major tax reform more than once in eight or 10 years, and the MCL sales tax proposal lulled folks into forgetting some other bad taxes.

What about the "use" tax that brings the state $110 million a year? What justification is there for taxing hotels and motels at four per cent, other than the fact that non-residents use them and are therefore fair game?

What about that wretched gasoline tax? It's already nine cents at the state level. Sure, people got sore about the prospect of an additional 10 cent tax at the federal level, but there remain stiff and regressive taxes on the fuel that propels most of us to work.

And let us hear a sob for the lowly cigarette. Coffin nails are taxed at 11 cents a pack whether you're rich or poor. Booze is taxed so stiffly that it's a positive encouragement to bootlegging.

SECOND, THE SIMPLISTIC proposal which voters approved Nov. 5 was aimed—or so the MCL representative told me—at putting pressure on the state to reduce spending. What hogwash! What horsefeathers! What effluence!

You don't reduce spending by cutting taxes. Except for temporary emergencies, it has never been done.

You reduce spending by reducing the things that cost money—having fewer kids to educate, letting welfare mothers starve, committing the mentally ill to insane asylums and forgetting about them.

Gov. Milliken has made his position clear: Raise the personal income tax by seven-tenths of a per cent to make up lost revenue. He said during the campaign that that was what we'd probably have to do. Some lawmakers are giving him a little static about it, but in the end they'll probably approve the income tax route rather than fool with more "nuisance" taxes.

Before long, legislative Democrats will come through with their knee-jerk reaction that the income tax should have graduated rates rather than be a flat rate. They have a point in economic theory, but as a practical matter the voters won't amend the constitution to allow a graduated income tax until the flat rate gets to six per cent or more.

Meanwhile, be prepared to put up with the illogic of our present patchwork system. And when you go to the movies, take a couple extra pennies along if you're a candy eater.

Ford in no-win position on jobs, inflation

Too many people expect the president of the United States, in his State of the Union message next week, to pull a rabbit out of his hat and solve the economic woes of the nation.

Our national financial woes did not happen over a short period of time and, therefore, are not going to be solved in a short period of time.

Our inflationary trend can be traced to the period when John Kennedy asked Congress to reduce taxes to help the economy. Obviously, if Ford requests the same thing - and he probably will - he will be trying to serve the near-term recession, boosting the possibility of long-term inflation.

WE ARE IN a recession today because Arthur Burns, the head of the Federal Reserve Board, has tried single-handedly to fight inflation over the last two years because he was not getting any cooperation from either the former president or Congress.

Through Federal Reserve Board action he has dried up funds, which has all but killed the housing industry and stifled industry growth because of high interest rates on borrowings.

If the Fed were to reverse its policy and make money freely available, which it is starting to do, it will help the near-term recession because industry can then afford to expand and new jobs will be created. But, in the long term, it will be feeding fuel to the fire of inflation because the more money that is available when the number of goods remains the same, the more the prices of the goods goes up.

IT SEEMS RIDICULOUS, but it is obvious that no matter what Ford does will be wrong because it will either fight the recession and help inflation or make the recession deeper in order to kill the inflationary trend.

There are some long range decisions Mr. Ford can make, The first, of course, is to review government spending. While we are going to have to spend more money on social things such as welfare, unemployment and federally-created job spending, we must spend less money in helping other nations create wars and keeping petty potentates in office against the wills of the people of those nations.

Charity does begin at home.

As a major nation we have a responsibility to the world to help the less fortunate, but our responsibility must start at home first.

IF THE MID-EAST countries are able to disrupt our economy by playing around with oil prices, then we must use our vast resources in this country to create new sources of energy that don't involve oil and we must put mandatory controls on the amount of foreign oil that comes into the country so that our payments to foreign nations don't bankrupt us.

But most important, our country cannot ride out the present problems unless there is the cooperation of the executive and legislative branches to promote one concrete, positive program.

An attempt to solve our problems should have been made a year ago but the country got so immersed in Watergate that our serious domestic problems were ignored. It is important that the Congress does not let itself get waylaid into investigations into CIA's and other things that happened in the past until they have solved our top priority problems, which are the health and well-being of our nation.

Teachers, politicos turn off public funds

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

Over the past two weeks, the smoldering dispute between suburban teacher unions and suburban boards of education has flared into outright area-wide confrontation.

It's a situation which has disillusioned the children, angered the parents, and paralyzed both the authority of state and law and the efficiency of the public education system.

Worse yet, it's a situation in which no one party can be entirely blamed. Responsibility must settle on the shoulders of both the teachers unions (misnamed "education associations") and the school boards, with ultimate accountability resting with the State Legislature sitting safely in Lansing.

MEMBERS of suburban school boards are, by and large, concerned, public spirited people who assumed the difficult burden of running school systems because of their commitment to education.

Theirs is a hard job, made much more difficult by the relatively recent phenomenon of teacher unions. Some local school boards, inexperienced in collective bargaining, have allowed passions to run too high.

Some members of some boards have made it plain they would like nothing more than to eliminate the unions altogether -- which is obviously absurd, given the heavy labor union orientation of this part of the state.

Often unskilled themselves in collective bargaining, the teachers have found themselves caught in a difficult bind between rapidly increasing costs of living and only slowly (if at all) increasing money to support the schools.

So far protected from having to endure economic penalty for striking by the state requirement of 180 days of school, some teacher union representatives appear to want to broaden the Crestwood dispute into a wider theater in order to gain area-wide bargaining in which their economic clout would be magnified.

WHO HAS made all this possible?

Clearly, the State Legislature, which has stood idly by for the past several years, leaving state law absurdly to allow collective bargaining rights but forbid the right to strike.

For the last two years, both teacher union representatives and school officials -- not to mention the governor's office and the State Board of Education – have known full well that legislative action was necessary to resolve the contradiction. But no one had the guts to do anything, especially in the election year of 1974.

WHERE WILL it all end?

In the short run, it is virtually certain that 1975 will see some kind of state law passed to resolve the teacher bargaining problem -- probably involving both a set timetable for negotiations and some kind of binding arbitration if bargaining fails to reach a settlement.

In the long run, it may be that this solution will be like the old joke about the scientist who rushed out of his lab one day, crying "I have discovered a cure for which there is no longer a disease!"

I fear that the Garden City and Crestwood situations, following a long and tangled series of other teacher union-school board hassles, has fatally eroded public confidence in our school system. It may be that parents and taxpayers will get so disgusted with the whole mess that they will simply refuse outright to vote any taxes to pay for the collectively bargained contracts that the teacher unions, the school boards and the Legislature appear to want so much.

And then, having killed the goose that laid the golden egg, all three parties may be left standing around with plain, old, ordinary egg on their faces.

Teacher strike wounds may take generation to heal

R. T. Thompson writes

The latest developments in the Crestwood teachers strike and the resultant action by the school board of firing all and starting classes with newly hired employes have had an impact that may be felt in adjoining districts for years to come.

One hears more and more reactions against the teachers from parents, who also make up a large percentage of taxpayers, as a result of the numerous strikes in recent months.

The Michigan Education Association, parent body of all of the educational unions, fomented more rumbles and more dissension among mothers and fathers by asking individual unions to support a walkout in sympathy with the Crestwood strikers.

It is this discord among the parents that could cause the teachers more and more grief during the remainder of this year and in the years to come.

WE HAVE A FIRM belief that some of the teachers' groups are not holding faith with the parents, and we point to the Monday meeting of the Plymouth Education Association as a prime example.

More than 200 parents gathered in Plymouth Salem High convinced that the meeting of the teachers in the school auditorium was an open session and more or less of a parent-teachers gathering.

In interviews, many said they had been called by teachers and asked to attend the open meeting. The press was so notified by some parents and did talk with leaders of the various teachers' unions present on the stage of the huge auditorium.

In fact, one of the newspaper reporters present did ask whether the meeting was open and was assured it was. Then shortly after 4 p.m. the chairlady announced that all persons not members of the teachers' unions must leave the hall. Spotters were sent through the audience to make sure that none but teachers were present.

This meant that some 200 Plymouth parents were milling in the corridor outside. This meant that the longer they stood around, the madder they became, and many left vowing they would make themselves known to the teachers when the next request came for millage.

PERHAPS THE PARENTS were misinformed, perhaps some few of their group handed out bad information, but the fact remains that announcements should have been made from the start that it was a closed meeting and none other than union members would be admitted.

Perhaps it may seem strange that a union be permitted to hold a closed meeting in a public building supported by taxpayers while the taxpayers are kept outside. It's all in the union's contract agreed upon some three months ago. There also is a no-strike clause in that same contract.

Should the teachers in other communities go ahead with their announced plans of striking in sympathy with the Crestwood group until they are back to work and the recently hired teachers are out, then we have a feeling many areas are going to be split widely in pros and cons.

If this happens, the split will not be mended in a year or two. It could well go through an entire generation.

We saw church congregations divided so badly that memberships dropped to one-third because folks just couldn't get over the actions and couldn't associate with those with other views during the long strike.

There were those who stayed inside the mills and worked, and there were those who joined the picket lines. To this day -- and it's almost 40 years – there are once good friends who have never spoken to each other again.

We saw the high schools in that area split so badly that once strong athletic programs faded to almost nothing because the youngsters had orders from home not to mix with others because of the views of their fathers during the strike.

IT LEADS ONE to wonder just what parents in Garden City, Plymouth and other school districts think of teachers who kept their children out of school for so many weeks and now with a contract signed are talking of taking to the streets again.

These parents want their youngsters in school. They thought they were assured of this when contracts were signed and now discover such pacts may not be worth the paper they are written on.

We know fully well the teachers have a right to bargain and to make hard bargains. We know they must fight to retain everything they have gained. We also know the taxpayers have a right to know what is happening at the bargaining table and a right to expect that bargains will be kept once agreed upon.

Teachers take others' jobs

Editor:

Mary Ellen Riordan (president of the Detroit Federation of Teachers) said, "I'm appalled that one teacher would take another teacher's job. They're nothing but thieves."

How ironic! I too am appalled. Not for the reasons mentioned above but for the greed and indifference to the livelihood of many of us building tradesmen who advertise in your paper.

I've been a carpenter and cabinet maker for some 30-odd years and I'm proud to say a darned good one!

In the same column under "Carpentry," there are two other ads. Each is a teacher! One says "moonlighting teacher." The other says "industrial arts teacher."

They both want the same thing, to wit: Carpenter work for weekends and holidays.

They want my work!

Good gosh, how greedy and rotten can they get? Building tradesmen like myself are dependent entirely on the jobs we get. We have no guaranteed income or any other fine benefits that teachers automatically get.

Have you part-timers ever considered tutoring a handicapped kid that can't get to school?

If this sounds like I'm bellyaching, you can be your sweet bippie I am.

Teachers too powerful

Editor:

To the editor who had the guts to tell it like it really was and is ("Crestwood strike has ripples through region," editorial of Jan. 6 by Tim Richard): Thank you, thank you, thank you.

People are becoming fed up with the same malarky. Mr. Richard's point of politicians, administrators and union officials being from the same school system is an excellent picture of the danger of too much control from one direction.

This person believes the educational and political systems have a strong control of the direction a number of newspapers release their news. The greatest source of revenue comes from these areas, and certainly a publisher will not take too big a bite of the hand that feeds him.

This person has always believed the Observer & Eccentric was too close to the side of the educator and politician because of the almighty power of the dollar.

The current Crestwood school crisis proves that regardless of the power of teachers unions and supporters, the people will step out and be counted when they have had their fill. That song that educator-leadership have sung for years of "For Our Children" just does not hold true.

If the current teachers strikes mean anything, it certainly points to a need of house cleaning and new directions. Our leaders at all levels had better take note before more damage is done to youth and the taxpayers. The dollar is a hard dollar for many of us. We cannot reach into the taxpayers' pockets at will, through salesmanship, for additional funds. What is being said by Mr. Average Joe is that all of us must pull in our belts for the good of all, not just a few.

The teacher profession should not have unlimited rights. They should have the rights of being organized with avenues for complete expression and consideration, but not rights that force the public to bend to its desire under any facts or pretense. The public should be the boss.

The college diploma has become the key that opens up the gates for many unqualified or partially qualified individuals who are just not fit to meet their obligations.

Let's not forget that laws are made and enforced by the understanding, not by those who live to disrupt or break them at will.

Do not be misled to believing that Livonia or any other school district union leadership would not vote again to join Crestwood teachers if there was not a major stumbling block in their path. Could it be the coming millage vote?

Indians are grateful

Editor:

Indian Enterprises recently received a shipment of toys, clothing and food through Mr. and Mrs. Hank Chruscial of Livonia to be given to the people who need the goods so badly.

Many area donors were involved in the shipments. Since it is impossible to reach them all and let them know how thankful we are, we are sending this to you. Let the people know how much this is all appreciated. It has helped a good many people.

State Police have wide duty range

A summary of the activities of the State Police for the month of November indicates not only the amount of work being done, but also a wide range of responsibilities.

State Police laboratory specialists in East Lansing, Plymouth, Warren and Holland made 2,873 identifications in 2,765 cases in November.

Examinations of all types numbered 101,141, including 23,726 for State Police, 32,936 for cities and townships, 24,839 for sheriffs and 19,640 for other agencies.

PROCESSING of 96,198 latent fingerprints led to the identification of 106 suspects in criminal cases.

Polygraph examinations of 266 persons led to 92 admissions. The voice identification unit had 14 examinations, identifying six suspects.

THE FRADULENT check unit processed 176 bogus checks, identifying 78 by name or previous specimen. Face value of the checks totaled $32,923.65, an average of $119.30.

The fire marshal division reported investigations of five explosions, 121 incendiary fires, 25 cases of law violations and 72 other fire cases.

Field inspections included 25 schools, 29 hospitals, nine nursing homes, 22 medicare-medicaid institutions, 10 state properties, eight bulk gas plants, four theaters, 73 children's facilities and three miscellaneous units.

THERE WERE 49 nursing homes and 21 hospitals certified to the state health department for licensing.

Bid deadline close on highway projects

Bids on 25 state highway construction and maintenance projects will be taken in Lansing on Wednesday, Jan. 15.

Locally, bids will be taken for the furnishing, fabricating and delivery of steel for bridges on the I-96 and I-275 freeways now under construction in the Livonia and Redford Township areas.

There are three bid items for the local work and an estimated cost listed: Steel for five bridges on I-96 and I-272 in Livonia, $1.2 million; steel for seven bridges over I-96 in Livonia and Redford, $1.1 million; and steel for nine structures over I-96 in Livonia, $800,000.

Some of the other projects which bids are being taken on include the construction of a bicycle path and eight-foot road shoulders in Barry, Calhoun and Kalamanoo counties at an estimated cost of $150,000; widening of three bridges on I-75 in Saginaw County and various other widening, resurfacing and repair projects.

Environment course eyes the media

A course examining the media as tools of mass environmental education will be offered this winter at the University of Michigan—Dearborn.

The class, entitled "Mass Media and the Environment," will meet at 4:30 p.m. on Thursdays, beginning Jan. 16 in the Classroom- Administration Building on the UM—D campus, 4901 Evergreen Road.

Through readings, discussions and independent research, students will evaluate the media, analyze its effects on audience behavior and suggest ways of improving media performances.

The course carries graduate residence credit for qualified students.

The University of Michigan Extension Service is offering the course and has further information available to students.

SC enrollment open to Jan. 16

Two course, one in political science and the other in first aid, are of particular interest.

For those interested in participating in politics, Political Science 205 is relevant. Taught by Dr. Larry D. VanderMolen on Tuesday from 7-10 p.m., the course examines the organization and function of modern American political parties. It also includes an analysis of campaigns, conventions, power, participation in politics and leadership.

Physical Education 121 is a two-hour class fully certified by both the American Red Cross and OSHA, the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

Schoolcraft is offering two day and one evening sections, which may be of particular interest to those in business and industry where a trained first aid person is required on the job.

Boating safety classes slated

Boating safety classes by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Division XII, have been scheduled in this area during February and March.

"Boating Skills and Seamanship" will be offered Feb. 20 in the Livonia Mall Community Room, Seven Mile and Middle Belt in Livonia, and on Feb. 21 at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

"Principles of Safe Sailing" will be offered March 7 at Schoolcraft College. Registration information can be obtained from Robert Bakewell at the college and from Colleen Baily at Livonia Mall.

'He always looked after me'

By SHERRY KAHAN

Back at the turn of the century in Hungary, a youth named Louis Ribar used to carry schoolbooks for a girl named Julia Dovola and make sure she didn't slip on the icy roads and bridge.

"He always looked after me," she remembers fondly.

And though the years brought early separation and later joys and sorrows, Louis is still looking after Julia.

This month they celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary in their home in Canton Township. Their family and friends gathered for a party, and there was food and music to remind them of their old country and a lot of talk about what makes a happy marriage.

"IN 65 YEARS I don't think we had a bad quarrel," Mrs. Ribar said. "You have to just love each other and don't have any distrust. Don't hide things from each other."

Her husband agreed, of course.

"You just have to take care of each other," he said. "Whatever you do, you've got to talk and make up any arguments."

FOR THESE CHILDHOOD sweethearts, immigration to the United Sates began with separation. They were ready to get on the same boat, but passport problems held Louis back for a time.

While her comfortable home in Canton Township is a long way from the Hungarian town of Josso, Mrs. Ribar well remembers leaving her homeland to travel to Hamburg, Germany to catch a boat for America.

Several of her townspeople made the three-week boat trip with her, although her Louis could not.

At 13, with a single suitcase in her hand, Mrs. Ribar stepped off the boat at Ellis Island in 1903. Things were very confusing at the way-stop for immigrants.

"You don't speak a word of English and everyone is talking to you in English," recalled Mrs. Ribar, who was soon to become very persistent in her study of the new language.

"I always carried a pencil and paper in my pocket," she said. "Every day I wrote down all the words I heard. Every evening I went over them again and again until I knew them. Soon people told me I was speaking good English."

MRS. RIBAR'S first American job was doing housework in New York City. When Mr. Ribar arrived, a teenager of 17, he promptly left for Detroit where he found work as a coreman in the Detroit Steel Casting Co. Eventually he became coreroom supervisor.

The two new Americans corresponded for the next seven years, but did not see each other until Mr. Ribar wrote asking her to marry him. He suggested she come to Detroit for the ceremony.

She declined, not the offer but the location of the marriage. "If you love me you'll come and get me," she wrote.

THEY WERE MARRIED in New York in 1910, she in a long dress, he in a wing collar and formal clothes. It was a double wedding with Mrs. Ribar's best friend getting married at the same time.

The couple lived in Detroit until 1920 when Mr. Ribar found a position at the Lee Foundary on Mill Street in Plymouth. They moved into a house at 469 Mill.

Sixty-five years after the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Ribar began to look forward several weeks ahead of time to the celebration of their anniversary being planned by their children, Mrs. Helen Gobel and Louis Ribar Jr. of Plymouth and Joseph Ribar of Livonia.

"We love music and enjoyment," said Mrs. Ribar.

Mrs. Gobel said that until just recently her 86-year-old mother enjoyed dancing the Csardas, a Hungarian folk dance involving a great deal of twirling.

Up until two years ago, the 89-year-old Mr. Ribar also used to join the dancing when Hungarian songs were played on the phonograph.

MR. RIBAR likes to read and can quote poetry and long sections of the Bible in Hungarian. Mrs. Ribar enjoys cooking, especially the foods that remind her of her native land. Such tasty items as cabbage rolls, chicken paprikas with dumplings and sour cream, and the crescent-shaped cookies called kiefli help recall her Hungarian childhood.

Mrs. Ribar does her own housework, cans food, makes wine from her own grapes, and jams and jellies from quince and mulberries which also grow behind her house.

The mulberry trees grew from shoots brought from Hungary many years ago. They produce mulberries as large as your thumb, according to Mr. Ribar.

The Ribars have 14 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Home ec volunteers to advise shoppers

By MARGARET MILLER

Home economists in this area will volunteer their services Friday, Jan. 10 to help a supermarket chain show homemakers how to get the most nutrition for their food dollar.

The women, all with training in nutritious meal-planning and thrifty food-buying, will work in Wrigley supermarkets, answering shoppers' questions about selection, food preparation, understanding labels on assorted products.

Participants include Irene Cameron of Livonia, Helen Hermans of Plymouth and Terry Craighead of Detroit, who will work in a Redford Township store. Stores in Westland and Garden City also are included in the plan, but the home economists who will work there have not yet been named.

THE ONE-DAY PLAN was evolved by Allied Supermarkets, which operates 74 Wrigley and K-Mart food stores in southeastern Michigan, to help consumers understand new developments in food buying.

Working with Allied for the consumer education event will be representatives from the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, the Wayne County Department of Health and the Dairy Council of Michigan.

Also involved are graduate home economics students from Wayne State University and Mercy College of Detroit and some senior students in that field.

THE HOME ECONOMISTS will be briefed to answer questions about planning nutritious, yet economical, meals, reading the new labels now required by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and showing nutritional values of each product, and comparison of private brands with national brands.

They also will have information about eligibility for food stamps, how to obtain them and how to use them, and will distribute sample plans that show how to feed a family of four nutritious meals on $40 a week. For young visitors, there will be coloring books with pictures of good foods.

Part of the message will be stressing menus planned around four basic food groups—meat, milk, fruit and vegetables and bread and cereals.

DR. GILBERT LEVEILLE, chairman of food sciences and nutrition at Michigan State University, applauded the program when he spoke at a kick-off breakfast at Mercy College.

"The best place to educate in this area is in the supermarket where the decision-making takes place," Dr. Leveille stated.

'The best place to educate on nutrition is in the supermarket where the decision-making takes place.'

He pointed out that a recent magazine survey showed that nearly all women consider themselves "concerned" about nutrition, but only 10 per cent plan ahead when they go to the supermarket.

"This indicates," he said, "that until relatively recently consumers have relied on the food industry to serve their best interests in providing what goes onto the family table.

"And it's a trust that has been well-placed in general. There are exceptions, but for the most part Americans are well-fed and at a relatively low cost."

REGARDING the recently-emerging concern, Dr. Leveille said he wasn't sure about its origin "but I'm sure it's good."

It involved three areas, he added, cost, health properties and safety.

"Rising costs of food of course present the largest problem for the lowest income groups," the speaker said.

"We noticed it most with the price of sugar, but doubling the price of beans, depend on beans as a major source of protein."

Health-giving properties of foods also raise many new questions, Dr. Leveille said. People want to know if a certain food will help in combatting heart disease, or arthritis, or cancer, or old age.

"It seems we're forever looking for that elusive magic ingredient in our diet and sometimes forgetting basic nutrition," he added.

IN THE MATTER of food safety, Dr. Leveille was inclined to discount many worries about additives in prepared food.

"Foods themselves contain chemicals," he stated, "and the additives in many cases keep these from working to spoil the products.

"I think it's safe to say chemicals in our food supply are not harmful to man," he said.

He also dismissed as "pure and unadulterated garbage" claims that natural vitamins have great superiority over those of the synthetic variety.

"But this is the kind of question that proves consumers need to know a great deal more about the food they buy," he said.

"We as professional educators must do much more to deal directly with the consumer, and a program like this one is a step in the right direction."

ARNOLD KRAUSE, general manager for Wrigley Supermarkets, said his firm is "concerned about food costs, not only as a business but because we at Wrigleys are consumers ourselves."

"We have tried to help with our current 60-day price freeze on almost 400 items," he stated, "but consumer education is really the key to better nutrition for less money.

"The cooperation and concern generated from all the agencies and nutritional specialists involved in putting together this massive, first of its kind, consumer education event has been tremendous.

"Our common goal is to get reliable nutritional information to thousands of people in a single day."

AAUW gives 'salute' to Joan Duggan

By MARGARET MILLER

Joan Duggan, Livonian whose years of service to community projects have brought her to a job directing other volunteers, is winner of a top award from the American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Duggan received the second annual "salute to women" award presented by the Livonia branch of the AAUW. The program was initiated in 1973, when Esther Friedrichs won top honors.

The actual presentation was made at a recent AAUW luncheon to Mrs. Duggan's mother, Mrs. Norberta Colosimos of Cleveland, because the honoree was ill with the flu.

Mrs. Colosimos, visiting for a few days in the Duggan home, took back to her daughter the citation and AAUW insignia charm presented by Barbara Mansfield, Livonia branch president.

MRS. DUGGAN currently is program director for the Livonia Office of Volunteer Energies (LOVE), a federally-funded program that seeks to channel volunteers into spots where they are needed and to set up new programs that can operate through volunteer workers.

At other times during the 11 years since she and her husband, attorney Patrick Duggan, moved their family of boys to Livonia, she has been active in many other organizations and projects.

She has served as president of the Livonia Jaycee auxiliary, area chairman for the March of Dimes and co-chairman for Livonia Helping Hands, a child protection program.

A PSYCHIATRIC NURSE before she married and began raising a family, Mrs. Duggan has been a Red Cross instructor in the mother-child care program and for a time was a member of the Madonna College nursing faculty.

"That was just for a term to help them out," she said. "I decided to quit when I found the students knew more than I did, and that took about one day."

Other activities include being Livonia chairman for a poison prevention program, co-director of Project Discovery in 1970, vice president of the Friends of the Barn historical preservation group and a member of the steering committee for Livonia 21.

She has served on the citizens advisory committee for the foster grandparent program at the Plymouth Center for Human Development and as a volunteer probation officer for the Livonia District Court.

Mrs. Duggan also has been active in politics, managing the mayoral campaign for Livonia's Ed McNamara and working for Sen. Robert Griffin and Gov. William Milliken in local campaigns.

She has been named Livonia's outstanding Jaycette.

IN HER PRESENT POST, she operates with Sue Taylor from an office in the Livonia Senior Citizens' building in a program that began last June and has federal funding for one year only.

"We have a year to prove the worth of this program or go out of business," she said, "and we expect to be around for quite a while."

That means the city must be persuaded it's worth while to pick up the tab for such programs as a recently-instituted plan for volunteer health aides in Livonia schools and a voluntary probation system in which persons sentenced in district court work in volunteer spots instead of being jailed.

"It's an exciting job," Mrs. Duggan said, "and our program has drawn volunteers from all over this area because Livonia is the only community with anything like this."

Joan and Pat Duggan have five sons, Michael, 16; Daniel, 15; Jimmy, 13; Bobby 9, and Timmy, 8.

IN PRESENTING the award, Mrs. Mansfield said the AAUW seeks "to recognize and affirm women in our community who have contributed to the building of our 'common unity' and have contributed to the improvement of its quality of life."

"Since the 1860s," Mrs. Mansfield added, "AAUW has been concerned with women's contribution to their advance in education, community and culture. In keeping with these main themes, Joan Duggan has given and directed her talents.

"As we reflect on Joan's contribution to our Livonia community, her dedication, service and willingness to help others is evident."

MR. AND MRS. JOHN C. EDWARDS

Pair gets surprise party for 50th

A surprise family dinner party, complete with a tier cake, marked the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Edwards of Livonia on Christmas Eve.

A larger celebration had been canceled because Mrs. Edwards underwent surgery recently, but family members made the occasion a memorable one.

The Edwards have lived in Livonia since 1969. Their home is on Dorais.

Both natives of Georgia, John Edwards and the former Vera Cawthon were married in her parents' home at Greensboro and moved to Detroit shortly after the wedding.

Mr. Edwards worked for 25 years as a Detroit policeman, and after retirement served from 1951 to 1965 as a security officer for the Detroit Bank & Trust downtown branch.

The couple have been active members of the Grand River Baptist Church for nearly 40 years, attending services there both at its former Detroit location and now in its Livonia home.

Mrs. Edwards has served many years as chairman for the church's cancer pad group. Mr. Edwards last year received his 50-year award from the Masons.

The couple have a son, Gary C. Edwards of Plymouth Township, and two daughters, Mrs. Edward Darow (Ilene) of Livonia and Mrs. Edward Morawski (Claudia) of Mt. Clemens.

There are eight grandchildren.

Jane Jackson wed to Larry Schwentor

St. Matthew United Methodist Church in Livonia was the setting for the recent ceremony that united Jane B. Jackson and Larry D. Schwentor in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Jackson of Country Club Drive, Plymouth. Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Schwentor Jr. of Wedgewood Avenue, Plymouth, are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Jerome Smith heard the couple's vows and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

Her gown was candlelight peau de soie taffeta, designed in empire style and trimmed in chantilly lace. A full-length mantilla held by a camelot cap matched the sheer sleeves of the gown, and the bride carried pink and white roses.

Joan C. Zach of West Bloomfield, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and her two sons also participated in the wedding, Steven as candlelighter and Robert as ring-bearer.

She wore a cranberry crepe gown with off-white lace trim. Identical dresses were worn by the bridesmaids, Diane Jackson of East Lansing and Tina A. Denham of Plymouth. Each attendant made her own dress.

Assisting the bridegroom were William Swanson of Northville as best man and Wayne German of Garden City and Ronald Crochman of Farmington as ushers.

The reception was held in the Warren Valley Country Club, Dearborn Heights. The couple will live in Plymouth.

The new Mrs. Schwentor is a graduate of the Madonna College nursing program and employed as a nurse's aide by Oak Hill Nursing Home in Farmington.

Her husband, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University, is employed by Peat, Marwick and Mitchell Certified Public Accounting firm.

Co-op nursery has openings

Wayne Co-op Nursery School is accepting applications for pre-school children from the ages of two and a half to five. The school has openings in its three-year-old class and in the mixed three and four-year-old classes.

School meets Monday through Thursday at 6615 Venoy, Westland. Morning sessions run from 9:15-11:15 a.m., and afternoon classes from 12:30-2:30 p.m.

For applications or further information, contact Mrs. Dennis McCormick, 33934 Pawnee, Westland.

DAR will hear Novi teacher

William Ayotte, a teacher at Novi High School, will be guest speaker Saturday, Jan. 11 for the luncheon meeting of the John Sackett chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution.

The 12 noon meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Robert Davis, 1878 Vinsetta, Royal Oak.

Ayotte, sponsored by the chapter for a week of study in the Michigan Conservation School at Higgins Lake last summer, will report on his experiences there.

5 generations greet new year

A New Year's Day party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green of Garden City was the occasion for the first meeting of five generations of a local family.

The Greens' 19-year-old daughter, Debra Green Hynes, brought her month-old baby, Heather Louise, to meet a great-great grandmother, Mrs. Louise Kubik of Detroit, and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Chudak of Detroit. Mrs. Kubik is 92 years old.

Earlier in the day Heather had been baptized in St. Valentine Catholic Church in Redford Township, the community where Debra and her husband, James, make their home.

Officiating for the ceremony was the Rev. Bruno V. Lishwe, CSSR, a Redemptionist father and long-time friend of the family.

He came from Oconomowoc, Wis., where he is in formation work in the noviate house which also serves as a nursing home for retired Redemptionists.

Also on hand for the baptism and party were Mr. and Mrs. James Hynes of Livonia, also grandparents of young Heather.

Alpha Xi Delta offers annual grant

Alpha Xi Delta, national social fraternity for women, is offering again the $2,500 fellowship in social service that it has made since 1959.

The grant for advanced study in the social service field is open to graduates of accredited colleges or universities who fulfill certain requirements.

The national organization has offered the fellowship for 15 years in support of its continuing program of aiding public officials in combatting juvenile delinquency.

"Civic authorities and juvenile court officials have expressed the opinion that an increasing need exists for qualified professional personnel to work with children and youth in preventing delinquency," said Marsha L. Woods of Plymouth, representing the scholarship program in this area.

Alpha Xi Delta members here, supporting the national program, have aided the Chan-Wood residence through the Plymouth Center for Human Development. The local sorority has made financial donationns as well as presenting holiday gifts.

To be eligible for the fellowship, an applicant must have a grade point average of B or above and must be preparing to attend a graduate school of social work with plans to pursue a career of work with children or youth.

Applications may be obtained from Mrs. Woods, 7899 N. Royale Court, Plymouth. Completed applications must be mailed in time to be received by the deadline date of Feb. 15, 1975.

If your're under 20, maybe not. If you're twice that age, certainly you know about touch dancing, only you called it ballroom dancing.

It's one of the new offerings in the winter classes scheduled by the YWCA of Western Wayne County, 26279 Michigan, Inkster.

Other new physical art classes are international folk dancing, creative dance styles for the non-dancer, belly dancing, indoor tennis, volley ball and swim-trim exercise.

Also new this season will be creat[illegible]t classes for teens, hand-loom weaving, leathercraft, tole painting, batik wax art, ceramics and sculpture, and a sketching and painting class.

Longtime favorites like [illegible]idge, guitar, sewing, painting and yoga will be offered too.

The YWCA will offer an experimental art class for tots, tutoring in math and reading for grades two to six and a magic class taught by Carlo the Magician for those 9 to 12.

Other classes will be in the Lamaze method of childbirth, Red Cross first aid and personal safety, planning a wedding and weight control.

MR. AND MRS. ARMAND ROCHETTE SR.

Rochettes observe 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Armand H. Rochette Sr. of Garden City will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary by renewing their marriage vows in a ceremony in their home Jan. 19.

Married 50 years ago in Sacred Heart Church in Lowell, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Rochette recently moved to Garden City from Detroit. They are members of St. Raphael Catholic Church.

Mr. Rochette retired in 1967 from Kelsey-Hayes Co., where he was superintendent of the afternoon shift at the McGraw plant. He is a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Christopher Catholic Church in Detroit.

Mrs. Rochette is a member of the Rosary Altar Sodality of the same church.

The Rochettes' children, Mrs. Doris Hall and Armand H. Rochette Jr., both live in Garden City. The couple have 13 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

U-M film on 2 women to be viewed, discussed

"Two Women—20 years," a film created by the University of Michigan Center for Continuing Education and depicting two women students a generation apart, will be given close attention in this area next week.

The half-hour documentary is scheduled for viewing and then discussing by the Livonia Family Y Women's Club and the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women.

At the Family Y, 14255 Stark, there will be showings Tuesday, Jan. 14, at 12:30 and 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday, Jan. 15 at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Each viewing will be followed by open discussion, and for each morning showing there will be baby-sitting available for a nominal fee. Men are invited to join the sessions.

THE AAUW plans to show the film at its meeting Thursday, Jan. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in Middle School West, 44401 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

Following the screening members attending the meeting will form small discussion groups to expand the topics presented, and on Jan. 21 the Women Study group of the Plymouth AAUW will gather in the home of Mrs. Robert Stone to continue an in-depth discussion of the film.

"Two Women—20 years" depicts first an interview of a 1954 college graduate. In it she discusses her plans for the future and her goals in life.

The second portion of the film takes another look at the same woman, 20 years later, and shows her meeting a 1974 graduate who also is looking toward the future.

INVOLVING ACTUAL U-M graduates, the film is an interesting look at what goals and attitudes for women have changed over the past two decades.

The multiple showings of the film by the Family Y organization is a first for the group and is planned as a service to women in this area. Coffee will be served during the discussion hour.

For the AAUW, the showing is planned by the organization's Women Study group. Other study groups will present future programs.

Women who have a college degree and are interested in AAUW membership may call Mrs. Fred Hanert, 40739 Firwood, Plymouth.

Northwest Y plans courses

"Mind-expanding" courses, a study of retirement and a variety of lively classes for youth, are among the offerings of the Northwest YWCA in its winter term.

Most begin the week of Jan. 20, and registrations are being taken in the Northwest Y building, 25940 Grand River, Redford Township.

"Looking toward retirement" is a five-week course for persons in their 40s or 50s interested in learning about such subjects as social security, wills and legal affairs, places to live and activities for retirement.

It will begin Tuesday, Jan. 28, and classes will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

THE COURSES called mind-expanders are planned for "men and women who want to get the most out of life," the YW brochure said.

"Introduction to Transactional Analysis" will be offered Tuesdays from 7:30-9:30 p.m. and will explore concepts popularized in the book "I'm OK — You're OK."

An understanding of these concepts may increase self awareness and allow the individual to change what he wants to change about himself and strengthen what he wants to strengthen. Les Zalewski will be the instructor.

"Adventures in Attitudes — Section 1" will be under the direction of David Abbott and will be held Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m..

The subject matter will include effective communications, the dynamics of attitudes, managing your mind, understanding people and making your personality pleasing.

"Human Potential" involves the positive approach to discovering more about yourself and is especially helpful to those who are uncertain of future goals or career changes.

To be taught by Betty Wagner, the class will meet on Thursdays from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

"The Science of Creative Intelligence" will offer an introduction to transcendental meditation on Fridays at 7 p.m. Bob Walls and Robin Kangas are instructors.

OTHER PROGRAMS to be offered adults include music, art, dancing, sports and swimming.

A co-ed cooking class will be held for teenagers Wednesdays at 4 p.m., during which they can learn to make fondue, cookies, party sandwiches, and to decorate cakes.

Back packing and primitive camping will be another teen course, and will be held Thursdays from 4-6 p.m. The course will include map and compass reading, menu planning, camp craft skills, equipment selection and survival techniques.

A one-day field trip will be included in the course. This class is offered to adults on Thursdays from 7-9 p.m.

A SATURDAY Sampler for teens will include such activites as yoga, cook-outs, jam sessions and swimming. Its hours are 1-2:30 p.m.

Other classes include a ballet school for those three years through adults, gymnastics for boys and girls six through 16 and youth art for those 10 and over.

Tap dancing may be taken by those from 10 years old through high school. Drivers education is offered those 15 through high school.

Arts council hosts fiesta

The National Dance Company of Mexico will present "Fiesta Folklorico," a colorful display of Mexico's music and dance, Feb. 8 at 8 p.m. in Plymouth Salem High School, Joy Road west of Canton Center Road.

"Fiesta Folklorico" is sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

The 50-member troupe is presently making its second U.S. tour of more than 60 cities, with the support of the National Ministry of Fine Arts of Mexico.

The company was formed 11 years ago, and is one of Mexico's two state sponsored folk ensembles. The group has since traveld throughout Europe and South America.

The cast includes dancers, singers and three bands clad in traditional fiesta costumes. The group will present a combination of traditional and modern numbers, many of which are familiar to American audiences.

Tickets are $4, $5, and $6. Mail orders are available by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope to Plymouth Community Arts Council Box office, 332 S.Main Street, Plymouth, 48170.

The PCAC box office in the Detroit Edision office, Main Street in Plymouth, will be open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. starting Jan. 20.

All seats are reserved.

Concert band offers recital in Garden City

The Garden City Adult Concert Band will present a winter concert Tuesday, Jan. 14 at 8 p.m. in O'Leary Center for Performing Arts, 6500 Middle Belt Road, Garden City.

The program will feature marches, show tunes and pop favorites. Highlights include "The Man with the Golden Arm," "Ballet Parisien" by Offenbach and concert band arrangements of "Great Hits from the '60s. Pop numbers from Simon and Garfunkel and Chicago will be played.

Marches will include "The National Emblem," "Purple Pageant" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The adult band will provide $500 in April for the instrumental music student in Garden City toward the purchase on an instrument of the student's choice. Students can be eligible for the instrument offer by writing their names on concert admission tickets. Selections will be made at the band's final concert.

"We want to do whatever we can to supplement the music program in Garden City schools," says Dick Cywinski, president of the band. "We want students in Garden City and other surrounding communities to become aware of our organization and participate in the band after graduating from high school."

"The band provides an excellent outlet for adult musicians."

Student joins arts camp band

David Berwernitz, a freshman at Plymouth Salem High School, will tour Denmark and Sweden this summer in the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp 1975 International Band.

The camp's band program is dedicated to promoting goodwill and understanding among people of the world through cultural exchange and the universal language of music.

Berwernitz, who plays clarinet, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hauk of 4440 Brookside in Plymouth.

Eastern Michigan offers European cultural study

The cultural history of Europe will be observed from study centers in Vienna, Munich and Florence by students enrolled in a summer course offerd by Easterm Michigan University. The session will begin in Vienna, June 27 with Emanuel G. Fenz, member of the EMU history faculty.

Courses include "History of Western Civilization," "Europe in the Renaissance and the Reformation" and "Europe from Absolutism to Revolution, 1648-1815."

In all courses, emphasis will be on bringing art, music and history into relationship with the movement of ideas and the structure of society. Lecture sessions will be held in the mornings, visits to museums, galleries, cathedrals and historical sites will be planned for afternoons, and evenings will be devoted to concerts, opera or other musical programs.

Classes will be held in Vienna from June 27 to July 11. The group will move to Salzburg for two days, then study in Munich until July 25. A session will follow in Florence until Aug. 9. Departure for the United States will be from Brussells Aug. 11. Trips from the study center to places of interest in the surrounding areas are scheduled in each country.

Six hours of undergraduate credit may be earned in history and social sciences. No graduate credit may be earned

Basic cost is $1,100 which includes air fare from Montreal, rail transportation in Europe, tickets to museums, plays and concerts; rooms, breakfast and lunches in youth hostels; and tuition for EMU credit.

Inquiries about the program should be directed to the Office of International Studies, EMU, Ypsilanti, 48197.

Auditions set for 'Brigadoon'

The St. Bede Players will audition lead parts for their May musical production of "Brigadoon," on Jan. 12 and Jan. 16 at 8 p.m. in the church social hall, Twelve Mile and Southfield Roads.

BY SUE ROSIEK

"Godspell," the musical, modern-day version of the later life of Jesus Christ, will be performed by the New Majority Jan. 17, 18 and 19 in Clarenceville High School Auditorium, Livonia.

New Majority, a group of young adults from 16 to 24, is sponsored by St. Valentine Catholic Church in Redford Township. It is the first amateur or professional theater company in the Detroit area to obtain rights to the popular New York musical.

"We were up against a lot of tough competition from other, more experienced local groups," says Mrs. Jo Ann Lepper, producer of the show and moderator of New Majority.

"It was a miracle we were selected," chimed several members of the cast.

THE PERFORMERS, by their own admission, are amateurs. However, what they lack in theater experience is compensated by their enthusiasm and several months of practice.

Wes Buckley, 18, of Redford Township, plays Jesus Christ, leader of a modern-day band of disciples. Clad in red and white striped trousers and distinguished by a Superman emblem blazoned on his chest, Buckley, like other cast members, believes in what he's doing.

"It's a practical and interesting way of spreading and learning about the "good news," he says.

The New Majority, was formed about three years ago by Mrs. Lepper and the Rev. Sidney Eckert, then assistant pastor of St. Valentine, in an effort to get young people involved in the community and aware of religion.

"WE STARTED out with some 25 members," explains Mrs. Lepper, "then dropped to 12. After our first show, 'Jesus Christ Superstar' membership soared. Everybody had so much fun they decided to stay.

"A youth group needs motivation," says Mrs. Lepper. "Superstar provided the impetus to really get the group moving."

"I joined the group before we did 'Superstar,' and I've seen it grow to what it is today," Rust says proudly. He is the New Majority's delegate to the St. Valentine Parish Council.

The church has advanced the group $5,000 to pay for production expenses such as costumes, sound equipment, set construction materials and royalty fees. The Village Presbyterian Church in Redford Township and St. Valentine have donated the use of their school gyms for "Godspell" rehearsals.

OTHER CAST members from Redford Township are Nancy Pruss, 18; Debbie Panek, 20, and Larry Fagan, 19. Students from Livonia and Dearborn also are featured.

Miss Pruss, who portrays a vamp, also is Miss United Way of Michigan 1975. She is a sociology major at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn.

Miss Panek plays a sinner and Fagan will be seen as the prodigal son.

Director of "Godspell" is Tom Bartasavage, a 24-year-old seminary student at St. John Provencal Seminary in Plymouth. Musical director is Carol Hornung, choir director at Clarenceville High School.

Music will be provided by "Milestone," a a group from Redford Township and the acoustic guitar duo "Christian and Buckley," composed of Fagan and Chuck Mulka. both New Majority members.

Mulka, who played Judas in "Superstar" operates the sound equipment and has a major singing role.

The idea that started last summer, has been nurtured by some 50 New Majority members rehearsing, assembling props, costumes and set designs.

"Godspell" performances presented by the Clarenceville Entertainment Series are scheduled at 8 p.m. Jan. 17, and 18 and at 3 p.m. Jan. 19 in Clarenceville Auditorium 20155 Middle Belt Road.

Other shows are slated Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, 7 and 8 at 8 p.m. in Wayne County Community College's Rosary High School Center, 8551 Greenfield, Detroit.

Tickets at $3, for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 are available by sending a check or money order and a self-addressed stamped envelope to New Majority, 26095 Dow, Detroit, 48239. Tickets will be availabe at the door if not sold out.

'Elixir of Love' opens in Music Hall Center

"The Elixir of Love," Michigan Opera Theater's third offering of the season, premieres Friday, Jan. 17 at 8:30 p.m. in the Music Hall Center, 350 Madison, Detroit.

Originally written to take place in a small Italian village, this fast moving romantic comedy has been transferred to the Old West, complete with cowboys, a crafty medicine man, the U.S. cavalry and an old-fashioned love story.

"The Elixir of Loye" is set to the music of 19th century composer Gaetano Donizetti.

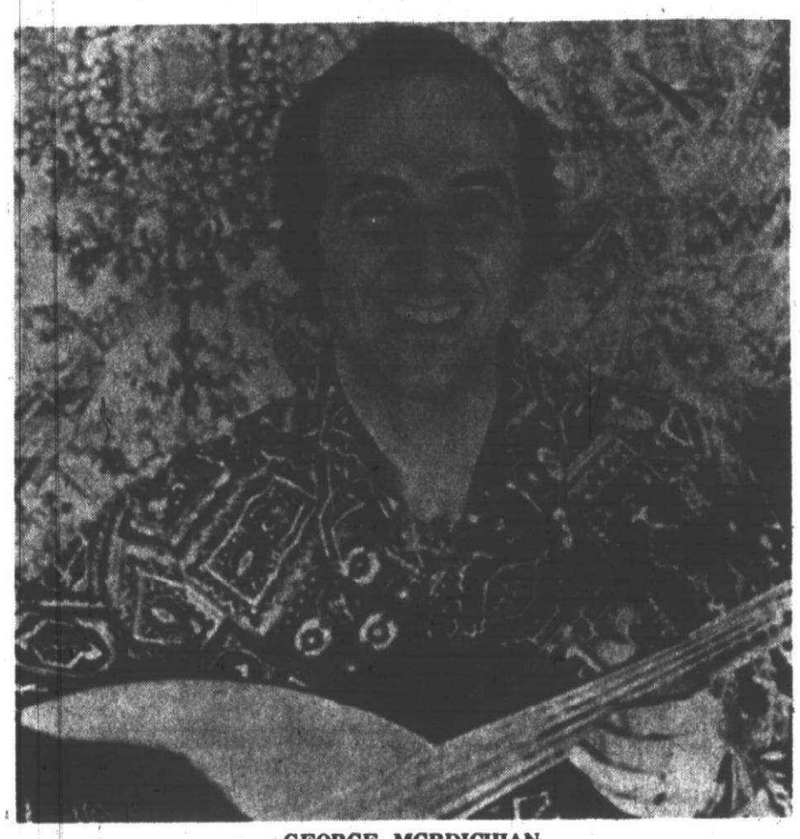
Directing "The Elixir of Love" will be James deBlasis of the Cincinnati Summer Opera. Music director and conductor Jonathan Dudley will lead the Flint Symphony.

The sets for the show have been designed by Henry Haymann of the Cincinnati Summer Opera, with costumes by Malabar of Toronto.

"The Elixir of Love" will be performed Friday, Jan. 17 at 8:30 p.m.; Sunday, Jan. 19 at 6:30 p.m.; Wednesday matinee, Jan. 22 at 1:30 p.m.; Friday, Jan. 24 and Saturday, Jan. 25 at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are available at Hudson's, Sears, Grinnell's and the Music Hall box office. Special group rates are available.

St. John offers Oud concert



GEORGE MGRDICHIAN

St. John Armenian Church of greater Detroit Pro-Musica will present in-concert the "Oud Artistry" of George Mgrdichian on Sunday, Jan. 19, at 4 p.m. in Birmingham Groves High School Auditorium, Evergreen and Thirteen Mile Roads. Mgrdichian will be accompanied by guitarist Menachem Dworman.

The Oud, an 11-stringed musical instrument, is an ancestor of the lute and guitar. Its history can be traced back before the Christian era and relates to the Middle East.

Mgrdichian is one of this country's leading exponents of Oud music. He is a graduate of Julliard School of Music and is presently a doctoral candidate at Westlyn University in Connecticut, where he teaches.

His New York Town Hall concert, in 1967, was the first Oud recital given in the United States. His performance with the New York Philarmonic marked the first appearance of the Oud with a major symphony orchestra.

Tickets at $6 and $4 are available by calling the St. John church office, 22001 Nortw!estern Highway, Southfield, 48075.

U-M features comedy farce

The showcase series at the University of Michigan will present "The Real Inspector Hound," Sunday, Jan. 19 through Tuesday Jan. 21 at 8 p.m. in the Arena Theater in the Frieze Building on the U-M campus.

"The Real Inspector Hound is a farce written by Tom Stoppard. The "whodunit" comedy deals with two theater critics, Moon and Birdboot, who come to review a bad murder mystery. They are drawn into the play and become participants in the murder mytery. When Inspector Hound mysteriously turns up to solve the murder, reality is turned upside down and hilarity takes reign.

Kinsolving disclaims (and disdains) a prank

By LESTER KINSOLVING

Some anonymous jester recently sent San Francisco's Catholic Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken a gift subscription to Playboy.

A certificate notified the archbishop that he was receiving Hugh Heffner's mammary monthly – as a gift from Lester Kinsolving.

Whatever clown was responsible for this prank should know that (a) the archbishop declined the gift – graciously, since he has a sense of humor, and (b) Kinsolving's thrift would never allow that kind of spending, and (c) as far as practical jokes on the cloth go, sending Playboy to prelates is comparatively bush league practical jokery.

TAKE, FOR EXAMPLE, Philadelphia's "Phantom Counterfeiter," who recurrently plagues Philadelphia's Archibishop John Cardinal Krol.

This practical joker is more vicious than silly – for he regularly steals or reproduces the Cardinal's letterhead. With its engraving in bright red of the cardinal's residence address as well as his official seal, this letterhead is so dazzling as to impress the recipient almost beyond caution.

This was my reaction last year when I received on this letterhead a message signed "John Cardinal Krol" – one passage of which looked like the religion story of the decade:

"The church is older than the U.S. government and wiser. I have been able to make a significant contribution to our nation by passing along to my dear friend and our beloved president the immeasurable value of mastering the art of surveillance and infiltration of dissident groups."

AFTER RE-READING this astounding letter, I noted the date – April 1 – and telephoned the U.S. Catholic Conference in Washington. They investigated and promptly disclosed that the letter was a complete hoax.

The "Phantom Counterfeiter" has also used the Cardinal's letterhead to invite publishers of Philadelphia's highly critical underground Catholic paper, "Substandard and Times," to join his eminence on a flight to Poland.

Reportedly this forger has not yet decided to use the cardinal's letterhead to reassign all of the Philadelphia archdiocese's leading pastors to obscure mission stations.

If he does, this action will be momentarily traumatic – but nothing in comparison to the experiences of the late Morgan Dix, rector of Trinity Church, Wall Street, in 1880.

"GENTLEMAN JOE" was the pseudonym of a man named Fairfax Williamson, who had been dismissed from Trinity's Sunday School faculty for immorality, by order of another clergyman, years before Dix became Trinity's rector. Williamson was apparently a monumental letter-writer. Within one week, Dr. Dix was confronted by the following who received letters sent in his name:

Pawnbrokers, shoe dealers, a tattoo artist.

Four attorneys to advise Mrs. Dix about divorce.

One physician to treat Dix for reported epilepsy.

Postal authorities finally nabbed "Gentleman Joe," who was sentenced to three years in Sing Sing prison. There he died, perhaps justifiably, of ulcers.

Ward groups set retreats

High school and junior high youth groups of Ward United Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia, are planning retreats in the next two weekends.

Seventh and eighth graders will go to Spring Hills Camp in Evart, Mich., from Friday, Jan. 10 to Sunday, Jan. 12.

Their leader will be Dan Schar, the church's director of youth ministries. A group of young people from Judson College known as "Second Chance" will furnish the music and share the program for the weekend.

Schar also will lead a group of ninth to 12th graders at Good News Camp near Gladwin, Mich., from Friday to Sunday, Jan. 17 to 19.

Music and spiritual challenge for that retreat will be furnished by Steve Ellison and Doug Loomer of the Good News Circle, an evangelistic youth organization.

Activities for the weekend will include skating, tobogganing, skiing and a hayride.

Foundation lists leukemia types

There are three principal types of leukemia, according to the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan, a member agency of the United Way of Michigan.

CLFM cites the three as acute leukemia, which most often affects children; chronic lymphatic leukemia, which is often well tolerated for several years, and chronic lymphatic leukemia, which is exclusively a disease of older people and which may continue for as long as 20 years.

St. Aidan pastor is leading theologian

By MARGARET MILLER

The parish priest at St. Aidan in Livonia is a leading theologian in the Detroit Archdiocese and the larger Catholic world as well.

Former academic dean for St. John Provencial Seminary in Plymouth, a student in advanced Vatican programs and now executive secretary of the Archdiocese Theological Commission and editorial writer for the Michigan Catholic, the Rev. Alex J. Brunett came to the Livonia parish a little more than a year ago.

He asked for assignment here after the death of the Rev. Edward Seifen late in 1973.

"MOST PRIESTS HAVE a goal to be pastor of a parish," said the theologian who has been enormously influential in developing thinking in the area of ecumenism.

"It is in work with people that you find the formation of Christian community. Ecumenism without grass roots involvement is purely theoretical, and theological work must be related to the lives of the people in the church.

"And obviously an editorial writer must have knowledge of the current situation in the church if he is to have something to say."

ST. AIDAN PARISH, Fr. Brunett believes, is an ideal base for priest and theologian.

"It's one of the best parishes I've had the privilege to work in," he said. "This is a well-educated community, and our parishioners are committed people of faith, open to the possibilities of change and greater understanding of issues.

"They also are people filled with a spirit of dedication and service to others, and they're aware that being a Christian does not mean just going to church on Sunday."

SEVERAL PROGRAMS at St. Aidan, which Fr. Brunett said has experienced some growth since his arrival, illustrate his point about diversified activity.

"Last summer we grew corn and tomatoes in a plot by the rectory that I rather presumptuously called 'The Garden of Aidan,'" he said.

"Then in the fall we had a harvest festival dinner using the produce from our garden, and proceeds went to funds that aid the starving people of the world. It was a fine occasion—about 400 of the 500 families in the parish took part."

Then there was a Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome in October. Some 120 members of St. Aidan parish made the trip with Fr. Brunett, who has spent seven years in Rome and speaks several languages.

"It was a great experience for building community in the parish," he said. "Those who went became much better acquainted and this has carried over into other areas of parish work."

One other parish activity has been establishing a youth group, which meets once a month for a service project. In December the young people provided food baskets for several needy families and sang Christmas carols in nursing homes.

FR. BRUNETT is a native Detroiter who graduated from Sacred Heart and then went on to Gregorian University in Rome and the Institute Catholique in Paris.

He earned a doctorate in the history of religious thought at Marquette University and served the parishes of St. Rose in Detroit and St. Alphonsus in Dearborn as well as a chaplaincy on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor.

His work as dean at St. John was from 1969 to 1973.

Leaving the seminary, he went to the Vatican for study in the area of ecumenism and then to ecumenical school in Dublin.

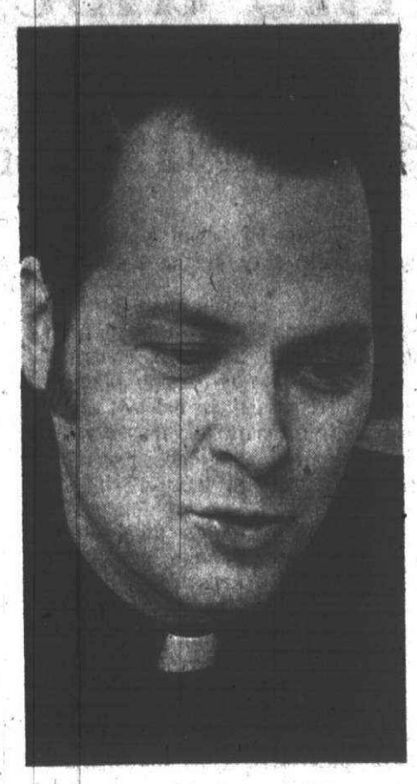
Later he went on to Jerusalem to the Institute for Advanced Ecumenical Study, a school supported by the Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox churches as well as the World Council of Churches.

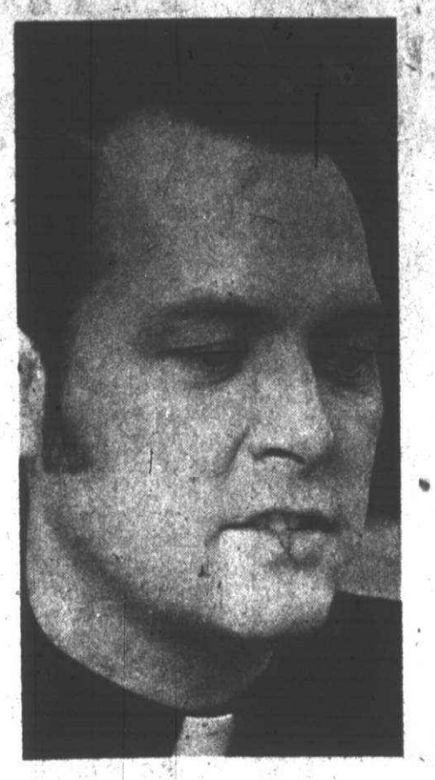
"It brings together outstanding scholars of all denominations," Fr. Brunett said, "and also has in attendance younger religious scholars who have the opportunity to bounce some of their ideas off these learned men.

"This mutual dialogue can bring a certain theological refinement."

FR. BRUNETT THEN brought his knowledge of advanced ecumenical theology back to the Detroit Archdiocese where his assignment was to establish a division for ecumenical and inter-religious affairs.

"The idea was to formulate a solid educational basis for religious understanding in this area," he said, "and to help coordinate the cooperative efforts of different Christian churches."





"ECUMENISM without grass roots involvement is purely theoretical" the Rev. Alex J. Brunett. (Staff photos by Bob Woodring)

He also established the Archdiocesan Theological Commission and began serving as its executive secretary.

This 10-member board, including eight men and two women, meets regularly and serves to advise Cardinal John Dearden and coordinate different theologies.

NOT SURPRISINGLY, a good share of Fr. Brunett's recent writing has been in the field of ecumenism. This has included a book on spiritual life for the Archdiocese's general education program, a series of 10 articles in the Michigan Catholic on ecumenism and a recent editorial for the same weekly on that subject.

With Christian Unity Week approaching later this month, he also is working on a supplement for that paper which will contain statements of agreement between the Catholic church and Episcopal, Lutheran and Presbyterian denominations.

"These are statements about areas where in the past there has been disagreement, and now new avenues for like thought are opening," he said.

MANY PEOPLE," this theologian added, "think ecumenism has gone as far as it can go, but there is much more room for advancement, as these statements show.

"I have noted recently a great growth in spiritual ecumenism—a greater awareness and respect for persons of different religious beliefs.

"We are finding a great reverence for different sacred traditions of prayer and ritual, and this is bringing an increased acceptance of joint prayer services."

He added that the movement is increasingly of a grass roots rather than institutional nature, and he applauds that change.

"People are going ahead at the local level, seeing a need and taking action," Fr. Brunett said. "Sharing of church buildings is one evidence of this. So is the recent move by the Livonia Ministerial Association to provide Protestant chaplains in St. Mary Hospital.

IN ADDITION to his work and studies in the field of ecumenism, Fr. Brunett is one of the early leaders in the program to ordain permanent deacons as part of the Catholic hierarchy.

He is author of the book "A Permanent Diaconate," which has served as a text in the training of dozens of men to assist priests in parish work, and he served as theological advisor for the Detroit Archdiocese pilot program in establishing the diaconate.

He now is completing work on revision of the book.

Study is planned on group-prayer

A four-session study of group-prayer will begin Wednesday, Jan. 15 in Sacred Heart Seminary, 2701 Chicago, Detroit, under sponsorship of the Detroit Archdiocese Institute for Continuing Education.

The Rev. Edward Farrell, Detroit clergyman internationally known as a spiritual advisor and retreat master, will lead the sessions, to be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

"Disciples and Other Strangers," a best-selling book by Rev. Farrell, will be the text for the course.

Sessions will cover "Discovering Kinship with Grace," Jan. 15; "Fasting in Body, Hungering in Spirit," Jan. 22; "Praying in Jesus, the Holy Hour," Jan. 29, and "Welcoming the Resurrection," Feb. 5.

Sister Mary Finn of the Home Visitors of Mary will assist the course leader.

Registration will be through the Institute for Continuing Education, 305 Michigan, Detroit, or at the seminary at the time of the first session.

The fee will be $8 per person for the four sessions and a copy of the text or $4 without the book. Couples will be charged $12 and the single session fee is $2.

Langdon-Smith

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Langdon of High Valley Road, Farmington Hills, formerly of Redford Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Leslie, to the Rev. Jerome Kent Smith of Doris Lane, Livonia, son of Mrs. William M. Foley of Mio, Mich., and the late Gleason R. Smith. The bride-elect is a 1970 graduate of Michigan State University and an elementary teacher in Wayne-Westland School District. Her fiance graduated from Central Michigan University in 1968 and from Garrett Theological Seminary in 1971. He is associate pastor of St. Matthew United Methodist Church in Livonia. They plan a June wedding.

Nabrezny-Korte

Mr. and Mrs. John Nabrezny of Cranston Avenue, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Gene Korte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Korte of Dearborn. Both are graduates of Eastern Michigan University and employed by Gale Research Publishing Co. A Feb. 28 wedding is planned.

Gray-Johnson

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gray of South Lyon, formerly of Westland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to James Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Whitmore Lake. The bride-elect is a senior at South Lyon High School and her fiance graduated from Whitmore Lake High School.

Blattert-Markiewicz

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Blattert of West Chicago Street, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janice Sue, to Lou Henry Markiewicz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tromans of Pinetree Street, Livonia. Both are 1973 graduates of Churchill High School. No wedding date has been set.

Harding-Kawel

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Harding of Elmira Avenue, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Sue, to Conrad Kawel III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Kawel of Northville. A July wedding is planned.

Miller-Ward

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Miller of Park Drive, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Beth, to Steve Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Ward of Bristol Avenue, Livonia. Both are graduates of Stevenson High School, the bride-elect in 1974 and her fiance in 1973. They plan a Sept. 12 wedding.

Breakfast set for clothing teachers

Home economics teachers from the tri-county area will attend a breakfast Saturday, Jan. 11 at 10 a.m. at Crowley's store in downtown Detroit.

These teachers primarily instruct students about clothing.

Following the breakfast, Sharon Johnson, educational stylist of Simplicity Pattern Co., will commentate a fashion show on spring styles.

Careers in fashion will be discussed by a panel of four speakers, including Stephen Sanford, pattern designer, and Phyllis Rifield, career and college editor of "Mademoiselle."

Other speakers will be Ann Wallach, locally based designer, and Jane Maher, Detroit commercial artist.

A special fashion show of Simplicity Patterns will be held for teenage sewing students at 1:30 p.m. the same day. It will be followed by a talk and slide show by Stephen Sanford on patterns.

Singletons plan dinner social

The Dearborn-Livonia Singletons plan a dinner social Friday, Jan. 10 in the Copper Door, 8701 Inkster, Westland. Cocktails begin at 7:30 p.m. and dinner will be served at 8.

Classes update study skills

A chance for women to update study skills and techniques is being offered by the University of Michigan Center for the Continuing Education of Women in the form of two classes.

Written Communication will begin Jan. 21 and Speeded Reading and Study Efficiency starts Feb. 5.

The five Wednesday evening sessions on written communication are designed to give women practice in writing papers, essays, criticisms and reports. Practical ideas for scheduling course work and using libraries also will be considered.

The course involving speed reading is a five-session series.

Both programs were planned in cooperation with U-M reading and learning skills center. Advanced registration is necessary. Registration fee is $12 which covers either or both series

The Center for Continuing Education of Women is at 328-330 Thompson, Ann Arbor.

DEER CREEK PARK

You can live in some places for years, and never feel at home. Not at Deerfield Woods! You'll get the real contented feeling of being "settled" here, from the very first day you move in. Settled. . . and secure.

Every one and two bedroom apartment has been built and equipped with top-quality materials for your convenience and comfort. A beautiful, private swimming pool with spacious sun patio offers the last word in leisure living. And you get all this in the tranquil setting of suburban Livonia.

Come out and see us this weekend. Deerfield Woods is a great place to visit. . .
and even greater place to live!

Tigers roar, 55-49

GC West cagers nip East

By JIM BRADLEY

That loud "explosion" in Garden City Tuesday night was the annual collision of East and West on the basketball court.

And as usual, things happened.

Chris Babler's invading Tigers retained the city trophy by storming to a 55-49 win over the "east side kids."

It was a type of rock 'n' roll performance. West had the Panthers rockin' and went rollin' to its seventh win in nine games.

"We had it in our hip pocket all the time," chuckled a usually subdued coach Babler after the triumph although his Tigers never led by more than nine points during the game.

Billy Joe Young's Panthers narrowed the gap to just two points, 47-45, with 4:01 left on the clock.

However, seven Tiger free throws in the last period inched them ahead and Babler's win was safe in his hip pocket.

Playing to a full house, the combatants battled furiously the first eight minutes with agile 6-foot-5 West center Mike Susko dropping in 10 points to lead his team to a 16-13 edge.

Each team scored only three baskets in the second period. Hitting early, the visitors pulled to a 26-17 lead as guard Dave Niles pumped in two one-handers, Susko added a bucket and two free throws and Ken Chavis hit both ends of a one-and-one.

It looked as if the favored, taller Tigers would continue to widen the lead but there were a few "pick-pockets" on the Panther squad.

That win that was in the "hip pocket" was almost grabged away by the flying Panthers. The home team blew by West's defense with guard Mike Mitchell, forward Jim Riley and Emery hitting baskets while Wally Krol bulls-eyed two charity tosses to cut the lead to 26-25 with one second left in the half.

Sparked by forward Gary Hutnik's three driving hoops and a pair of dipsy-do counters by guard Ken Chavis, West outscored East, 16-12, in the third stanza to open up the margin to 42-37.

Although the Panthers poured in six field goals, four by Ken Tomaszewski, to only three by West, the latter's seven last quarter free throws salted the game away.

Tomaszewski, coming off the bench late in the first half, drilled in seven jumpers in nine tries and added two of three from the line for a 16-point second half. Teammate Emery chipped in 15 points.

Mike Susko eased his way through heavy traffic for 14 first half points before East's defense held him to three the final 16 minutes.

Besides Susko's game high 17 points, Niles' five field goals put him in double figures and Jay Gooch's six-of-six from the line gave him 10 points.

For the second game in a row, West's leading scorers, Susko and Niles went cold in the second half. Last week they hit 11 between them in the second half and against East managed only seven points combined after intermission.

"Their press took us out of our offense in the latter part of the first half and allowed them to catch up," Babler pointed out. "But we played well in the second half.

"Everyone that played tonight did a very good job and I'm thankful for a good bench," he added. "All the boys are doing the job and I'm happy Randy Shelly is getting more aggressive and going to the boards with more authority."

West had 14 fewer shots than East, hitting on 21 of 41 (55 percent) while the Panthers could only connect 19 times in 55 attempts for 35 percent.

"West's superior height forced us to shoot farther out than we normally would," coach Young explained. "We're not a bad shooting team, but there's one element of basketball that you cannot change — and that's the advantage of the big men."

Young, whose season's record dropped to 3-4, added that he was proud of his team. "I thought that, everything considered, we gave West a very good game.

"Our charts showed that we outrebounded West, 38-37, but I'll have to double-check that statistic," the veteran cage mentor said.

Both teams now return to league wars Friday in battles for first place. West travels to Melvindale to tangle with the unbeaten Cards in the Tri-River League contest that is a "must" game for the Tigers.

East and John Glenn, who share the North-west Suburban League lead with 3-0 marks, collide at the Westland school to see who will sit all alone on top of the standings.

Glenn Rockets destroy Taylor for 9th victory

John Glenn raced to its ninth basketball win in 10 starts Tuesday, toying with Taylor Truman in a non-league massacre, 77-44.

The Rockets of Gordie Davis tuned up for Friday night's clash with Garden City East which will decide who sits alone on the top rung of the Northwest Suburban League ladder.

Glenn ripped the nets for 53 per cent in meshing 30 field goals in 56 attempts.

Their stingy defense permitted only 16 field goals and 44 points, the fifth time it has held opponents to no more than 50 points.

Meanwhile, four players pumped in double figures to offset the loss of Terry Johnson who played less than five minutes because of the flu.

"It's great when all the boys get to play," Davis smiled after the easy win. Glenn powered to 23-9, 40-20 and 61-30 quarter leads before settling for a 16-14 final quarter margin.

"Mike Alimpich got to play a lot tonight and he did a real good job for us," Davis said. "He scored 13 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. Terry Johnson has had the flu this week and when we jumped to that big first quarter lead, it was nice to be able to rest him."

Helping Alimpich led Glenn to a 47-20 rebounding margin was George Roberts with 12 and Jesson with 10.

They are the team-to-beat in the Northwest Suburban League.

Garden City East gets the chance to derail the Rockets tomorrow night in the Glenn gym and Davis knows his team will have its hands full.

"It will be a whale of a game—there's no question about it," admits Davis. "East has a very good team and we'll have to capture the boards and play tough defense if we hope to

Livonia Y handball open

The Livonia Family 'Y' will play host to the Metropolitan Open handball singles, Jan. 18 through Jan. 28. The tourney will feature many of the top handball players in the Detroit area.

Ken Crespi, 1974 Michigan AAU four wall champion; Bernie Samet, '74 National four wall consolation champion; and Larry Brown, defending Metro Open champion are entered.

Matches will be played at the 'Y', located at 14255 Stark, with the first round starting at 9 a.m., Saturday, Jan. 18.

Scrambling Churchill dumps Southfield attack, 70-52

Coach Pat Montagano's club won by exploding for 39 points in the second half, while holding Southfield to 20 including just eight in the fourth quarter.

Southfield led 32-31 at halftime. The Chargers went ahead on Dave Clark's basket early in the third quarter and never trailed after that. Southfield's cold shooting lasted for the rest of the game.

Clark, a 6-3 junior forward, led the Chargers with 19 points on eight field goals and three of eight free throws. Three others finished in double figures. Matt Foster scored 13 points, and Bob Jamrog and Eric Kihn each notched 11.

The Chargers had ample opportunity from the free throw line, but made only 12 of 38 attempts.

Southfield got another good game from sophomore Bill Phillips. The 6-4 center scored 20 points on eight field goals and four of six from the line. Jeff McColl, a 6-1 guard, added 10 points, and Steve Trowbridge had eight.

The victory was welcomed by Montagano who had dropped three straight games before upsetting Southfield. Churchill, now 3-6, plays on Friday (Jan. 10) at home against unbeaten Northville High.

CHURCHILL (70): Clark 8, 3-8, 19; Foster 6, 1-2, 13; Kihn 5, 1-6, 11; Jamrog 4, 3-10, 11; Nelson 3, 1-2, 7; Shepard 2, 3-3, 7; Streicher 1, 0-0, 2. Totals: 29, 12-38, 70.

Salem buries Edsel Ford, 59-45

By FRED DeLANO

A 12-2 scoring edge in the last four and a half minutes of play carried Plymouth Salem to a 59-45 Suburban Eight cage victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford as the Rocks overcame the Thunderbirds' slowdown tactics to run their record to 7-1.

The Thunderbirds attempted only 33 shots out of their semi-stall, spread offense and although the soft pace kept them close most of the way it wasn't enough to offset Plymouth's attack led by 6-10 Eric Agardy.

The big senior center pumped in 21 points and grabbed 17 rebounds besides starting the final rally that put the game out of Edsel Ford's reach. In the league, Plymouth's defending champions now are 3-1, trailing 4-0 Dearborn High by one game.

An Edsel Ford comeback after trailing by 14 midway in the third period saw the Thunderbirds trim Plymouth's margin to 47-43 on Kurt Anderson's bucket with 4:30 to go in the final stanza. Then the tide turned for keeps.

Agardy scored from under the basket on a fine feed from John Maloney, and when fouled in the process added a free throw to make it 50-43. Before the surge was ended Bill DenHouter had contributed four points, Brian Wolcott and Jim Ellinghausen got two apiece and Agardy came back to notch another from the charity line.

In the process the Rocks also smothered the Thunderbirds defensively, Edsel Ford being held to two free throws in that run for the wire.

Both teams were making their first start since the holidays and play was often ragged.

Plymouth was without the services of Capt. Danny Moore, senior guard and top playmaker who is hobbling from a leg injury, but Coach Fred Thomann had praise for guards Tim Dillon, Wolcott and Howard Inch for filling the breach. "They made our passing game go, and although we missed Danny that was the difference," he commented. In assists Dillon was tops with six.

Althouth the Rocks never trailed, they saw an 18-12 first quarter bulge fade to a 22-all tie in the second period before they rallied to lead at the half, 28-22.

A scoring burst by Agardy, Inch, Ellinghausen and Maloney led to the 14-point spread at 41-27 in the third quarter, but then three quick hoops by Edsel Ford's Dan Tarrant made a contest of it again.

Aside from Agardy, Ellinghausen was the only other Rock who scored in double figures with 14. The Thunderbirds were led by Steve Betz and Tarrant with 15 and 11 respectively.

Plymouth had a 30-23 edge in rebounds and shot 45 per cent from the floor on 26 buckets in 58 tries. Edsel Ford canned 15 of its 33 shots.

Suburban Eight standings now read: Dearborn 4-0, Plymouth Salem 3-1, Belleville 3-1, Livonia Bentley 2-2, Trenton 2-2, Redford Union 1-3, Allen Park 1-3 and Edsel Ford 0-4. Friday night it will be Plymouth at Allen Park, Belleville at Dearborn, Trenton at Bentley and RU at Edsel Ford.

The first year behind the No. 1 chalkboard can be the most interesting and at times, the most frustrating.

His Bulldogs won four of their first five outings into the '74-75 campaign and one of those four wins included a 79-78 dumping of highly touted Plymouth Salem.

But the holiday tourney came crashing down on the Bulldogs and Birmingham Groves upended Bentley, 63-51, and Walled Lake Central followed suit, 73-65.

Belleville handed Bentley a 61-54 lashing and Jackson's Bulldogs now find their 4-1 mark slashed to 4-4.

And to make defeat No. 4 that much more painful, Bentley missed 17 layups.

"We blew all the freebies," commented Jackson whose Bulldogs host Trenton tomorrow (Friday). "This game boiled down to us missing 17 sure baskets and losing by seven points.

"I never would have imagined a varsity team missing so many easy baskets."

It was 16-all after one quarter with the second quarter sending the Bulldogs into "catch-up style" of basketball. Bentley missed on six layups in that quarter and wound up only two of 12 from the field to trail at the half, 31-23.

Belleville took the third quarter, 16-15, and Bentley the last, 16-14. The Bulldogs wound up 24 of 68 from the floor for a 35 per cent.

"The kids aren't discouraged yet," stated the Bentley coach. "But if we lose another, things will change around here."

Box score:

BELLEVILLE (61): Abraham, 6-6-8-18; W. Easley, 6-1-2-13; Thornsbury, 3-0-0-6; D. Easley, 7-4-7-18; Edwards, 2-0-0-4 Cohen, 1-0-0-2. TOTALS, 25-11-17-61.

BENTLEY (54): Dinsmore, 1-0-1-2; Kegley, 6-2-3-14; Miller, 8-1-2-17; Wise, 3-2-5-8; Rhodes, 3-0-1-6; Carlson, 1-0-0-2; Duckworth, 0-1-2-1; McChesney, 2-0-0-4. TOTALS, 24-6-14-54.

POISED MORE LIKE A LITTLE MAN is Plymouth Salem's 6-foot-10 Eric Agardy in a "set position" against Edsel Ford. Salem dumped Edsel Ford, 59-45.

By the slender margin of a single point, Fred Mc Clain, who does most of his bowling in the western suburban areas, beat Mike Totsky for the honor of being the "bowler of the year" in the Michigan Majors Bowling Association.

To gain the honor, Fred bowled in each of the 10 events on the year's schedule. He reached the finals five times, and won two tournaments, to pile up 102 points.

Totsky was attempting to win two honors—rookie of the year and bowler of the year—and barely missed.

While winning the top honor, Mc Clain also finished second in the money winning category with $1,430 and averageed 201 for the 120 games. Top money winner was Bob Garrett who finished with $1,735.

The Majors open their 1975 schedule at Bowlerama Lanes on Seven Mile Road on Jan. 18, with the qualifying round set for 3:30 p.m.

SEVERAL HUNDRED persons paid tribute to John Walter, veteran Detroit News bowling writer, last Saturday night at a retirement party at Plum Hollow Golf Club.

John spent 40 years following the bowlers and golfers in the area, and once served as president of the Bowling Writers Association of America and the Golf Writers Association.

His journalistic career spanned 46 years.

Bowling against the veterans in the Classic last week, he posted a 729 on games of 209, 252 and 268. He came right back with a 685 series that enabled him to win the doubles with Fay Lanier as a partner. They registered a 1,343 for the top place.

In the Classic, Mike had a companion who also broke the 700 barrier. He was Don Emmett who opened with 207, followed with 237 and closed with 266 for 710.

Other high scores in the Classic included a 694 by Dick Beattie, while Ron Sharples had a 288 in 660.

He celebrated his 86th birthday by bowling a 291 series, which was just a bit below his 100 average. His grandson, Don Daugherty, bowled with him and had a 217 game in a 567 series.

JOE NASO was the lone metropolitan Detroit bowler to gain a place among the leaders in the men's state tournament that opened last Saturday at Thunderbowl. He topped the handicap all-events with 542-569-570-234—1915.

The Honda World team of Battle Creek topped the actual team event with 2756, and the Plesho Supper Club of Vicksburg paced the handicap division with 3090.

In the actual singles, Dave Mc Ckintic of Alma was high with 620 and Richard Mattolio of White Pigeon showed the way in the handicap singles with 615-75—690.

The Cast brothers of White Pigeon showed the way in the actual doubles with 1172, while Jerry Selvius and Dick Danstra of Grand Rapids topped the handicap section with 1377.

STARTING THE NEW year where she left off in the old, Mary Mohacsi, the Livonia school teacher, took top honors in the ladies classic at Garden Lanes with a 673 series. At that figure she gained a 14 pin margin over Ann Setlock, while Bertha Simonsen landed third with 605 and Marge Wuerth was fourth with a 585 series.

Other pacemakers at Garden Lanes included Mike Tingelley, who fired a 256 in 655 in the Livonia Men's league, and Bill Tamm, who had a 661 in the Misfits loop.

JAN VANDERWILL continued her high scoring in the Ladies Classic at Farmington Lanes when she took high single honors with a 268, while Irene Piscopink had a 264 in 613 to earn the pacemaking role.

In the Mixed Classic it was Tom Hay leading the parade with a single game of 233 in a 654 series.

Canton wins, 62-59

Canton whipped nonleague Farmington High, 62-59, and Close was the difference. Farmington never led in the game, but the Falcons pulled into a 50-50 tie midway through the fourth quarter. Then Close went to work.

Canton outscored Farmington, 7-1, during the next three minutes, and Close scored four of those seven markers to finish with 16 points for the evening.

Canton led 30-26 at halftime, but Farmington sneaked back to within two (46-44) after three quarters. Farmington used a man-to-man defense, and tried to run a fast-break offense.

Dave Edwards, Canton's 6-4 center, scored 20 points and grabbed six rebounds. Rick Thom, Canton's tallest man at 6-6, scored eight points.

Farmington plays at home against Waterford High Friday (Jan. 10). The Inter-Lakes League game begins at 8 p.m. The Falcons have a non-league game at city rival North Farmington on the following Tuesday (Jan. 14).

Stevenson falls, 54-53

"We had them and let them go," exclaimed Spartan coach George VanWagoner after getting nipped at the wire by Dearborn, 54-53.

It was loss No. 4 for Stevenson against five wins but VanWagoner emphasized that this is not a 5-4 team.

"We deserved a better fate against Dearborn and there is no way we are a 5-4 ballclub."

Stevenson, which stands at 2-1 in the Inter-Lakes loop, opened with a 16-15 lead over Dearborn. A 14-10 second quarter margin upped it to 30-25 at the half.

The third quarter was a standoff with both clubs pumping in 13 points.

With one minute remaining, two free throws by Dale Wimmer tied it for Dearborn at 53-all. Jim Gilland then missed on a one-and-one opportunity for Stevenson and with three seconds left, Dale Mason made good the first of a one-and-one situation and the Spartans had let a Sub Eight power slip away.

"We have to keep our heads above water now," added the Stevenson coach whose Spartans in the league must play catch up to a 3-0 Pontiac Northern team.

Stevenson now has three consecutive home clashes, Jan. 10 with Milford, Jan. 14 with Franklin and Jan. 17 against Farmington. Box score:

DEARBORN (54): Rucker, 1-3-5-5; Mason, 0-2-5-2; Wimmer, 4-10-15-18; Vanderhull, 12-4-7-28; Haller, 0-1-4-1; Kawintkowski, 0-0-3-0. TOTALS, 17-20-39-54.

RO St. Mary crushes St. Agatha, 71-41

St. Agatha once again found itself outclassed on the basketball court.

Jim George's Aggie cagers fell to Royal Oak St. Marys, 71-41, for their fourth consecutive defeat and eighth overall in nine outings.

"It seems that everyone shoots better than us. We are aggressive but don't have the raw ability yet."

The Royal Oak team jumped to a 19-11 first quarter lead, pushed it to 34-20 at the half and 51-31 after three quarters.

St. Agatha hit only 16 of 52 from the field for a 29 per cent.

The Stroller

Folly of the polls

By W.W. EDGAR

Usually an even-tempered sort of fellow, The Stroller can take things as he finds them along the journalistic trail. Now and then, however, he comes across trends that disturb him to the point where he develops an actual hatred for them.

The thing that has disturbed him most is the trend toward national polls. This is especially true when it comes to rating the college football teams of the nation or trying to predict the outcome of an election.

This hatred came to the surface a week ago when the daily papers published the "final" football poll of the season and had two different leaders on successive days.

WHAT COULD be more disturbing than that?

One major news service came up with Southern California, conqueror of Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, as the No. 1 team. The other stuck with Oklahoma, an undefeated team on NCAA probation and ineligible for bowl competition, as its choice.

There is no doubt that Southern California and Oklahoma had outstanding teams (at least on a given day), but it is the method employed in the national polls that is most disturbing.

Who are the people who vote?

For one news service, the choices of the football writers and broadcasters are taken. The other polls the coaches.

Yet, in either case, the vast majority of those who cast ballots haven't seen the teams play.

At best, they are guessing and basing their choice on comparativ e scores—the worst method that could be used.

This means that teams that roll up the highest scores are favored in the polls.

Worse yet, the coaches of the leading teams in the various conferences, are tempted to run up big scores instead of giving untried talent a chance to develop in order to make a good showing in the national poll.

ONE PRIME example last season is Bo Schembechler at the University of Michigan.

If you recall, the Wolverines were leading Purdue by a wide margin well into the third period. It was the time to give the second stringers a chance. But Bo kept them on the bench. Then it happened.

On a simple option play, Dennis Franklin, the quarterback who was the key to the Wolverine attack, was tackled and injured.

As he lay on the ground with the trainers working over his bad ankle, one grizzled veteran of the press box turned to The Stroller and said, "There goes the Ohio game."

Sure enough, Franklin didn't recover sufficiently to be in top form for the Buckeyes and Michigan met its lone defeat of the season and a chance to play in the Rose Bowl.

One can't help thinking that if Bo didn't have his eye on the national poll, why did he allow Franklin to stay in the game to be injured?

THIS HATRED of national polls was bred in The Stroller many years ago when he was in the sports department of the Detroit Free Press.

One day the sports editor asked that he join the other football writers and predict the winners for next Saturday's games.

"What do I know about the teams in Texas, or out on the coast," The Stroller asked, "or the teams in the south or even in the Big Ten for that matter? I haven't seen them play and chances are that I won't."

The sports editor was insistent, despite the fact that The Stroller tried to point out that the poor fellows working in the shops might bet their money on his "guesses."

FINALLY, a compromise was reached and it was agreed that The Stroller select only long shots and that they be advertised that way. And he has hated the national polls ever since.

It reminds him of the time, in an emergency, the Free Press sent the office boy out to the State Fair Grounds to cover the horse races and asked him to pick the next day's winners. It wasa lot to ask. But the young lad picked six of the eight winners with his "guesses."

So you se, there's nothing stable about national polls. The votes are cast by people who possibly never have seen the teams play—even on television.

What's in the making for 1975?

With the budding of the new year, comes the list of entities I would like to see take place in 1975:

• Here's hoping Bentley High will replace their 60 watt bulbs in their gym with at least 100 watt bulbs.

• All visiting basketball teams playing at Bentley will bring a chair and seat belt for Bulldog Ahletic Director George Fefles, who tends to wander during the games.

• For State Class A baseball champion Churchill High to get its own baseball field and Coach Roger Frayer a crop of Charger bat girls.

• For Bentley High to replace all the "candles" on its football field with real lights.

• All swim coaches to call is results.

• And all wrestling coaches to get off their duff and report scores, whether they win or lose.

• For all women coaches to call in results and stop using the excuse, "Gee, I didn't know we are supposed to report the scores."

• All hockey parents will unite and conserve verbal mouth power in this energy crisis.

• I honestly believe that sometime this year Ford Ice Rink in Livonia will offer a good hot hotdog.

• Garden City prep athletes will pass the ball back to the teachers by calling time-out and going on strike themselves.

• All football press boxes will be used for just that purpose, instead of a meeting place for wives of coaches and teachers and errant statistical people.

• Wouldn't it be nice to see night football games moved up to a 7:30 starting time.

• Livonia's Ford Field No. 1 baseball diamond will become a baseball diamond instead of a No. 1 sandbox. • Plymouth High's hockey team will get its first goal.

• Plymouth Salem and Redford Union will be donating a responsible clock and person to Edsel Ford to work the football games.

• For that Churchill Charger to fall off his horse just once.

• The Bentley student body will attempt to steal a Franklin Patriot but will fail to find a Patriot.

• Plymouth Canton will actually get serious in athletic competition.

• John Glenn's Bob Lusk will once again sound off against something.

• Franklin High athletic director George Lovich will teach a class titled "coke break."

• Would really like to see Clarenceville High win at something.

• Livonia's Parks and Recreation Supervisor John Dufour will be seen working out on the ball diamonds this spring.

Oab Would like to see Thurston High stick with the same coaching staff for an entire year.

• Stevenson's Gerry Goode will return to the prep hockey scene.

• Detroit Race Course public relation person Kenn Christopher will whisper in someone's ear and say that he needs a secretary more than a handicapper in the office.

• Franklin basketball coach Bob Visser will report a game just once without an excuse.

• Garden City East basketball coach Billy Joe Young will open a conversation without saying, "Now don't quote me on this but... "

• Girl tracksters will ban use of bras during meets.

• Plymouth Salem High School will post a sign stating, "Home of the 1974 State Class A Football Champions."

• Gary Whitener will win the Observer & Eccentric Golf Tourney.

• St. Agatha will bring back ol' Tom Sankovic.

• W.W.Edgar will bowl a game just for the fun of it.

• An all-area cheerleading squad will be selected.

• Bentley High baseball coach Marty Klozik will remain on the bench for one entire game.

• Boy's volleyball will become a varsity sport.

• More letters and opinions will pour into the sports desk.

• And not so tongue in cheek, we would like to see area athletic directors honor "our" Tommy Thompson, who is stepping down from his executive editor post, for all he has contributed to area high school sports.

HAPPY NEW YEAR 1975.

Seniors are commended

CANTON— Seven seniors at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park have been named "commended" students by the National Merit Scholarship Corp.

The students are in the upper two per cent of those expected to graduate from high school in 1975 and are among 38,000 commended students named for high performances on a 1973 National Merit Scholarship test.

Although the students do not qualify as scholarship semifinalists, their names will be submitted to regionally accredited colleges as commended students.

Ski Heil

By

BILL CAMERON

Wondering what to buy for that winter sports buff?

How about giving some serious thought to cross-country ski equipment?

Consider some of the advantages of cross-country skiing—no need to purchase lift tickets; no traveling necessary (any local golf course will do); great exercise; safe; an excellent family activity.

I spent an interesting half-hour interviewing John Barnett, proprietor of the Viking Ski Shop in Livonia. John has been at his present location for 14 years and saw the potential of ski touring four years ago. At that time he stocked two brands of c.c. skis, now he has 14 brands, all products of the Scandinavian countries. I asked John the following questions:

S.H.—"What kind of a financial outlay are we talking about for cross-country skiing?"

J.B.—"A complete package of skis, boots and poles can cost you anywhere from $60 to $120. The more expensive package gives you a high performance ski, one containing liginous stone edges."

S.H.—"In the past three years you've seen your c.c. equipment sales triple. Have there been any noticeable changes in product design?"

J.B.—"The big improvement has been in the number of laminations built into the ski, making them stronger, plus the fact that they have developed non-waxing bottoms, one a "fish-scale" bottom and the other a non-slip mohair strip bottom. Unfortunately they are only 80 percent as efficient compared to waxing."

S.H.—"Waxing has always appeared to be a very complicated procedure. Let's talk about it!"

J.B.—"The object of waxing is to keep your skis from sliding backward, and yet allowing you to glide forward with ease. There are five basic waxes, color and temperature coded. They range from a wax to be used at below 0 temperature to a wax for sloppy, slushy snow. The rule is fairly simple, if the ski is slipping, you drop down one color. If the snow is sticking to the bottom, you use one color higher."

S.H.—"What about the rest of your equipment?"

J.B.—"Your boots are low cut, light, flexible and comfortable. The bindings are a free-heel, toe-pin binding, which allows your heel to raise, unlike downhill bindings. Poles are bamboo and very light."

S.H.—"Do I need to look like a fashion plate as far as my cloting is concerned?"

J.B.—"One of the advantages of cross-country skiing is that the emphasis is on light clothing. A windbreaker over a sweater is sufficient because you're burning a lot of calories and you'll perspire much quicker once you get moving. Knickers are recommended because they give you much more freedom of movement."

S.H.—"Where can I go to rent equipment and take lessons in this sport?"

J.B.—"Several of your major ski areas (Vail, Breckinridge, etc.) are now offering lessons. We, at Viking Ski Shop, have rental equipment available and Bob Pasanen, our Norwegian born Ski School Director, offers lessons every Saturday and Sunday at 1 p.m. at Hawthorne Valley Country Club, Warren and Merriman Roads."

Trenton tops RU, 62-51

"We did everything right but put the ball in the basket," commented Redford Union coach Carl Andrews after his Panther cagers opened the new year on the short end of a 62-51 score against Trenton.

RU made good only 19 of 72 shots for a 26 per cent.

"Be were tight," added Andrews. The Panthers are now 4-5 and travel to Edsel Ford Friday."When you can't score on your home court, it's pretty bad."

RU did manage to win the rebound battle and by a sizeable margin, 56-32. Tom Sweeney and Greg Wood collected 14 each. The one scoring punch that was missed was 6-foot-2 senior Wood who has averaged 16 points per game.

Box score:

Suburbanites win county posts; Bobo new chairman

Two suburbanites have been elected to lead the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Roscoe L. Bobo, a third-term Democrat from Ecorse, has been elected chairperson.

The commissioners also elected John Barr, a second-term Democrat from Dearborn Heights, its vice chairperson at the board's first meeting of the new term, Monday, Jan. 6.

Bobo, the first to serve since 1971 when Robert E. FitzPatrick won the first of four consecutive years as chairman. FitzPatrick did not run for re-election to the board after trying unsuccessfully for a congressional seat in the primary last year.

While Bobo is the first black to lead the elected board, he is not the first to head the county legislative body. William T. Patrick Jr., a black leader, was chairman in 1963 of the appointed County Board of Supervisors.

BOBO WON a clear majority of the commissioners' votes on the first and only ballot, 21-2 with four absentions, facing only token partisan opposition from Erv Steiner, a Grosse Pointe Republican.

In a turnabout, Steiner put Mrs. Dumas' name into nomination for vice chairperson, but she lost overwhelmingly to Barr who racked up 23 votes to her two.

Barr, whose district also includes part of Westland and Inkster, was nominated by Commissioner Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland).

Nominations for both posts were closed after two names were put up for both positions.

BOBO AND BARR both had actively campaigned for the chairperson post, along with Rose Mary C. Robinson (D-Detroit). Mrs. Robinson, an attorney serving her third term on the board, was not nominated for either position.

Bobo had the backing of the United Auto Workers Union, the Metropolitan Detroit AFL-CIO and the Wayne County Democratic Committee. This support made him a sure winner on the 27-member board, 25 of whom are Democrats.

Bobo, 62, was the board vice chairman last year and had served as chairman of the General Government Committee. He is a member of the County Drain Board and executive chairman of the Detroit-Wayne County Criminal Justice System Coordinating Council which approves grants for Law Enforcement Administration Assistance funds.

Bobo is known to be a strong advocate of senior citizen benefits and for the creation of a county housing commission.

BEFORE his election to the board, he was a two-term Ecorse councilman, serving as mayor pro-tem at the time of his election. He is also a retired Ecorse assistant police chief, and had served 22 years as a police officer.

He is a member of the First Baptist Church of Ecorse, the International Association of Police Chiefs and the Sumby Memorial Hospital executive board.

Barr, who was elected to his second term in November, served last year as chairman of the county Ways and Means Committee. He was also chairman of a special subcommittee dealing with employes of the now-closed Child Development Center, and a member of the Human Resources Committee.

Barr, who has a degree from Wayne State University in business administration, owns a restaurant on the WSU campus.

He has been active in several civic organizations, and is a member of the Peoples Community Hospital Association board of directors.

At the Jan. 6 meeting Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville) was also sworn into office, along with five other new commissioners. He replaces Brian G. Arrowsmith (D-Canton).

Family of 3 to take trip

A Livonia family of schoolteachers will be winging its way south sometime this year after winning a contest at Wonderland.

James Bannan was notified Christmas morning, the day after his 32nd birthday, that he and his family had won an all-expense paid vacation and spending money at any one of four tropical vacation sites from Aladdin Enterprises, Inc. of Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Bannan said neither she nor her husband had ever won a prize before and they were "a little amazed."

"It was just one of those things," she said, adding her husband did a slow recall on competing in the contest.

In addition to Bannan, 10 others won prizes for accomodations only. Local winners include: Ronald Kline of Livonia, Mrs. Barry Levine of Livonia, Mrs. David Culler of Redford Township, Mrs. McNonagel of Westland, Mrs. Jerry Atkinson of Westland, Frank Cesaro of Garden City, Mrs. Arnold Lesinkse of Livonia and Mrs. William Logan of Livonia.

They'll discuss accountability

A seminar on educational accountability will be held at Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield, Jan. 9-11.

State Board of Education personnel will conduct the sessions using formats developed by a committee representing teachers, administrators and school board members, State Superintendent of Public Instruction John W. Porter said.

The workshops will discuss the impact of the State Board's "Six Step Accountability Process" at elementary and secondary education levels.

The primary goal of educational accountability is to improve student learning and performance through a cooperative effort between local residents and the educational system.

The workshop is designed for teachers, school administrators and school board members.

Livonian helps laid off professionals

By SHELLEY EICHENHORN

Although his blue-collar counterpart has probably lived with layoffs as a part of life, the white-collar, college-educated professional faces a new crisis in many instances. Knocking on doors and finding that they often remain shut becomes a reality.

RE-VEST, Reemployment Volunteer Engineers, Scientists and Technicians, is a service set up to help unemployed professionals get back on their feet. RE-VEST tries to aid in the job hunt and helps to bolster the self-concept that has been destroyed for many.

"Many come in feeling like nonpersons, explained Donald Bennett, of Livonia, RE-VEST director. "They no longer enjoy the status they've been accustomed to. It's a brutal thing to see."

Bennett recalls one accountant who came in for an interview referral. "We couldn't send him out, because he would go to an interview and beg. He couldn't sell himself as a person. He was psychologically wiped out."

ABOUT 10 per cent of those who come to RE-VEST need some type of personal counseling according to Bennett. An unemployed counselor comes in two days a week to offer his services, while fully empathizing with those he counsels.

Those ready for job hunting come under almost every job classification from accountant to urban planner.

But, of the nearly 8,000 unemployed professionals in the Detroit metropolitan area, only 110 have registered with RE-VEST. Bennett feels this is due in part to a lack of funding. The RE-VEST office consists of two desks and a phone provided by the Michigan Employment Security Commission, 210 Michigan Avenue, Detroit.

RE-VEST finds that its members fall into several employment problem areas. Leading the list, are those considered "overaged." "Not one person over 40 has been placed," Bennett said. "Sometimes it gets sticky at 35."

Those who don't possess critical skills find themselves in difficulty. Teachers and certain types of engineers fall into this group.

Overeducated and under qualified people with advanced liberal arts degrees are also in a bind in the job market. Companies are reluctant to hire people with master's degrees and doctorates.

"It is felt that bringing the highly educated in at entry level positions won't work, because frequently these people grow dissatisfied with the work that becomes unchallenging," Bennett said.

Resident aliens without citizenship constitutes another problem employment group. Although they are highly qualified and have working papers, many jobs require U.S. citizenship.

FINALLY, EXECUTIVES in the $25,000-$35,000 salary bracket fall into the over-qualified category. "They can be placed," said Bennett, "if they look long enough. But, it takes a great deal of time and persistence."

Although 14 per cent of the RE-VEST membership are women, the director feels females are still faring pretty well in the job marketplace. Bennett thinks this is due to the Affirmative Action Program instituted by executive order. It urged companies to recruit women and minorities.

For 15 years, Bennett worked in the field of industrial personnel and organization. He has also been an associate professor of English.

Now, he rides downtown to the RE-VEST office on the DSR.

"IT'S BAD enough having a master's degree. With a doctorate, I'd really be dead," Bennett said.

However, he's taking positive steps to help RE-VEST while unemployed. According to Bennett, the service functions to help those job hunting by:

•Guiding an individual job hunt by helping with resume writing.

•Writing blind letter probes to companies that may need someone's specific talents. "This may get him an interview. Interviews are the name of the game and give the applicant exposure," Bennett said. "That's where RE-VEST ceases. Then the person must put himself over."

•Conducting publicity campaigns and flooding the country with someone's resume. "We have listings of personnel directors throughout the country," Bennett said.

•Soliciting job orders from companies.

•Providing the Michigan Employment Security Commission listings for the state and some surrounding states.

•Securing private consulting projects for individuals. "Small corporations that can't afford to add staff often hire a consultant for special projects," Bennett said.

IN ORDER to take advantage of these services, members are asked to volunteer four hours a week to help operate RE-VEST. Since 1972, 769 unemployed professionals have sought the services of the agency. "All but 110 are working," Bennett said.

They may be working, but not necessarily in Michigan. "Most positions are found on the East Coast and in Illinois. But, often these jobs result in a per cent loss in net salary due to r location."

When it comes to job prospects in Michigan, the RE-VEST director is not optimistic. "I think it will be another five years until the auto industry and all its support industries are back on their feet," Bennett said.

DNR saves on energy

For a long time the State Department of Natural Resources has been talking conservation. To practice what it preaches, the department now reports dramatic savings of energy.

Robert D. Burke, Administration Bureau Chief, said the department saved over 80,000 gallons of gasoline for the first six months of last year. This equals a million miles of vehicle use.

He said, "Through various forms of conservation, we were able to save enough fuel oil to heat 125 homes of 1,200 square feet and enough natural gas for an additional 179 average-size homes for one year."

He said sufficient electricity was saved to provide the needs of 20 homes for one year, depending on whether fuel oil or natural gas was used.

The department had other programs whose savings could not be measured exactly. For instance, DNR drivers observe the 55 mile per hour speed limit. The Law Enforcement Division now has 18 fuel-saving motorcycles, and the Parks Division added 13 man- powered bicycles. The department's 29 compact cars and nine subcompacts could result in saving 19,000 gallons of gas per year.

The DNR makes free fire wood available to the public. In 1973 more than 10,000 cords of wood from state forests were provided which equates to 10,000 tons of coal or 2,000,000 gallons of fuel oil. Information on the program is available at district forest offices.

"Much of this energy saving is a result of innovative thinking on the part of a great many DNR employes," Burke said. "It includes sharing rides, replacing bulbs with lower wattages and turning down thermostats in offices and storage areas."

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Those who have been attending harness races for years said it would never happen in Michigan or anywhere else and then Owner Bob Kalish, of Southfield, proved them all wrong.

Although his horses win a 100 or more races every year. Kalish has never been known to appear in the winner's circle. It made no difference whether his horse had won a stake or a claiming race, he never was in the circle. Mtter of fact it got so the track photographer didn't take photos of Kalish's horses and Driver Tom Merriman just drove on through after the ceremonies.

Then came the $13,800 championship finale of the Jackson- at-Northville meeting and Kalish's Spanish Mac surprised all but Kalish and Merriman with a surprising victory.

Seems the grandson put on such a plea that Grandpa and Grandma couldn't resist. Kalish told one and all that it was his first and only appearance in the circle. We believe him.

JUST AS A sidebar. Kalish bought Spanish Mac for $10,000 two years ago and it is just now beginning to pay off. The horse was ailing during the early part of the year and didn't snap out of it until a few months ago.

You can bet your last dollar that one of the most discussed topics at the annual meeting of the Michigan Harness Horsemen's Association in Lansing Saturday will be over the suit filed by Northville Downs against Commissioner Leo Shirley over summer dates.

From all we can learn all of the state's harness racing tracks will be represented including Jackson, Northville Downs, Hazel Park and Wolverine Raceway.

Most of the activities for the Michigan horsemen will take place Saturday afternoon and evening with the annual banquet at night. Champions of various colt stake series will receive trophies and pictures of the Hambletonian and the Little Brown Jug will be shown.

However, with the races scheduled Saturday night at Northville, many of the horsemen who normally would have attended will have to stay home and watch the store. In the past the meetings were held on Sunday and Monday.

Highspot of the Saturday events will be the election of new directors to the MHHA Board.

With Tom Wantz in the sulky, Hollys Margeo sped across the finish line by almost a length over Woody Who. Hollys Margeo, owned by George Simms of Trenton, Mich., ended the year with 11 victories, two seconds and one third and total earnings of $32,000.

Michigan drivers are doing quite well at the meeting with recent victories recorded by Joe Adamsky (Senor Duane). Don Hall (Rsce Star), R ich Oldfield (Brenna Messenger), Frank O'Mara (Major Bay), Joe Adamsky (Lincolns Impulse), Tom Wantz (Rebel Relco), Don Hall (Shiaway Sub) and (Roberman), Harold Fisher (Rusty Roc), Frank O'Mara (O'Ed and Mitey Dancer) and Tom Wantz (Dulcinea Hanover).

Blu Fireball, a favorite with Michigan fans during the Wolverine season, recently won at Yonkers Raceway in 2:00.4 and paid a whopping $79.80 to win. That would never have happened in Michigan.

Clarenceville grapplers win 8 team tourney

Sporting four individual champions, the Trojans of Clarenceville High, bested seven other schools in copping top honors in the Clarenceville wrestling invitational.

Clarenceville finished with 101 points, Flat Rock was second with 74, Schafer third with with 49½, Marysville fourth with 46, Plymouth Canton wound up fifth with 42, Marine City was sixth in 38, Lutheran West finished seventh with 37½ and Oak Park was eighth with 27.

Hydromation 1st quarter income rises

Gene Hirs, president, says net income per share was 13 cents for the 1975 first quarter ended Oct. 31, compared to 12 cents for the same quarter in 1974. This represents a worldwide consolidated improvement in net income of slightly more than eight per cent.

Worldwide consolidated revenues were $6 million, up five per cent from $5.7 million revenues in the first quarter of fiscal '74. Consolidated net income was $456,000 in the first quarter compared to $422,000 in the first quarter of '74.

The first three months of '75 were difficult for Hydromation, Hirs says, because of shortages of material and equipment. "Jobs were delayed and considerable time lost because of lack of supplies. This was particularly evident in our European operations."

The firm's consolidated backlog on orders as of Oct. 31, 1974, was about $19 million.

"Although it appears as if this backlog will be reduced somewhat," predicts Hirs, "it is at a very healthy level and creates enough cushion for us to be able to plan our work systematically.

"As a matter of fact, we still look towards a very good year as we are quoting quite a few jobs and expect a fairly high return on those jobs."

The net earnings per share for the present quarter is based on 3,610,000 outstanding shares, a decrease of 40,000 from the first quarter of 1974.

HELEN MILLEN, rehabilitation nursing consultant for the Kenny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation, demonstrates transfer techniques, one of the free demonstrations Jan. 15 at Mercy College for handicapped persons and their families.

How handicapped persons can improve their lives

Easier living for handicapped persons and their families will be featured at a free problem-solving meeting Wednesday, Jan. 15, at Mercy College in Detroit.

The meeting, which will begin at 8 p.m., will include films on ways to make daily living smoother. It is open to the public.

TECHNIQUES SUCH as transferring a person from bed to wheelchair, walker or crutches will be demonstrated by Helen Millen, RN.

Literature on dressing, bathing and housework will be available.

The Kenny Foundation is sponsoring the meeting with Mercy College, where seminars for area medical personnel are scheduled Jan. 15 and 22. Similar topics will be reviewed at these all-day seminars.

THE WEDNESDAY evening problem-solving session doesn't require advanced registration. Handicapped persons, families and friends are encouraged to attend.

"Rehabilitation nursing includes not helping the patient, but encouraging him to try again on his own," explains Miss Millen. "It means getting the patient to do as much for himself as possible, using his muscles so they don't waste away through disuse."

Miss Millen, who will conduct a question-answer period during the meeting, adds: "Rehabilitation treats the person and not the disability. It focuses on what is right with the patient, rather than what is wrong."

The Kenny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation, founded in 1946, is a Torch Drive and United Way of Michigan agency. Its goal is to help rehabilitate all of Michigan's disabled residents, rather than to combat a specific disease.

Recruits boost bureau's impact

A special project to broaden the membership of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit has been very successful.

Benton said the recruiting program, "Project: Responsibility," resulted in 30 new member firms and verbal assurances from other potential member companies.

"Our goal when we announced this campaign was to broaden membership in and support for the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit so the bureau could do an even more effective job of representing the interests of consumers in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb county areas."

He called the response gratifying and added: "It looks like we're getting our message across to the business community-- particularly with companies that don't interface directly with consumers.

The recruiting teams headed by Charles W. Babcock, secretary- treasurer of C. W. Babcock and Son and Glen W. Warren, manager of owner relations, General Motors, led on successful recruiting of member firms.

The team headed by Robert Hague, vice president, finance, Federal Mogul reported the highest dollar total. Marvin Danto, owner of Danto Investment Co., was the top individual recruiter.

TO THE PRESENT AND PROSPECTIVE GAS CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY

NOTICE OF HEARING ON AMENDMENTS TO RULE 2, RULE 4, RULE 12(f) AND RULE 13 OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY'S STANDARD RULES AND REGULATIONS

On October 10, 1974, Consumers Power Company (the "Company") filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission in Case No. U-4676 which requests authority to amend Rules 2, 4, 12(f) and 13 of its presently effective Standard Rules and Regulations (MPSC No. 6 – Gas, Consumers Power Company). The Company states in its application that Rule 2 relates to the installation of gas service lines from its gas distribution mains to the customers' fuel lines; that Rule 4 relates to metering and metering equipment; that Rule 12(f) relates to service to individual mobile homes in courts; and that Rule 13 relates to the Company's policy regarding extension of gas mains to serve new customers. The Company also states in its application that the cost of construction of gas service lines and gas main extensions has greatly increased. However, the Company's presently effective Rules 2, 12(f) and 13 do not reflect these increased costs. Accordingly, the Company proposes to amend such rules to reflect the current costs of constructing such facilities.

Proposed Rule 2 would require the customer to bear the cost of installing service line from the Company's gas main to the customer's property line. For other than centrally metered installations, proposed Rule 2 establishes an installation fee for service lines under 1-1/4 inches in diameter of $90 plus $2.35 per lineal foot measured from the property line to the meter installation. The charge for installations requiring service line of 1-1/4 inches or more will be based on the Company's estimate of labor, material, equipment and overhead costs to complete the job. Proposed Rule 2 will also allow the Company to charge customers for the cost of any construction permit or inspection fee required by governmental authorities. Proposed Rule 2 will also expressly give to the Company the right to refuse to initiate gas service and the right to disconnect gas service if the installation charge has not been paid. Disconnection procedures will be in accordance with any other applicable rules of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Proposed Rule 2 also rewords the "Practical Difficulties" clause, adding "streets wider than the normal residential street" as one of the expressly delineated abnormal conditions that will justify the Company's increasing the installation charge for service line.

Proposed Rule 2 is changed to expressly authorize the Company to charge the customer for the cost of relocation or other changes in gas service facilities made necessary by the customer's building over the service line or creating a nonreadily accessible meter location.

Under present Rule 2, in most instances the Company bears the expense of installing the service line from the Company's distribution main to the nearest property line of the customer. Except in centrally metered installations, the installation charge to the customer is presently computed as follows:

(1) Pipe sizes under 2 inches: $20 plus $1.40 per lineal foot from the customer's property line to the meter.
(2) Pipe sizes 2 inches or more but less than 4 inches diameter: $50 plus $1.60 per lineal foot.
(3) Pipe sizes 4 inches or more but less than 6 inches: $75 plus $2.90 per lineal foot.
(4) Pipe sizes 6 inches or larger: installation charge based on the Company's estimate of the cost of labor and material.

The Company also proposes to amend Rule 4, dealing with metering and metering equipment. Due to shortages of natural gas, the Company has concluded that it is not in the public interest to encourage the use of outdoor gas yard lights. Accordingly, the Company proposes to amend Rule 4 by eliminating reference to the necessity of the customer providing space in the base of such a yard light for the installation of a meter.

The Company also proposes to amend Rule 12(f), relating to the provision of gas service to individually metered mobile homes in courts. Proposed Rule 12(f) changes the charge to be assessed for installation of service line from the gas main to the meter and regulator pedestals at each mobile home pad from $10 plus $1.70 per lineal foot under the existing Rule to $20 plus $1.95 per lineal foot of service line.

Proposed Rule 12(f) also includes rewording of the "Practical Difficulties" clause and adds a provision allowing the Company to add to the installation charge any construction permit or inspection fee required by governmental authorities.

The Company also proposes to amend Rule 13, dealing with extensions of gas mains to serve new customers. Proposed Rule 13 completely revises existing Rule 13, incorporating a number of substantive changes in its provisions. Proposed paragraph 13(a) expressly provides that gas service through a new main will not be initiated until any required customer contributions have been received by the Company. Proposed Rule 13 also gives to the Company the right to require the payment of a nonrefundable charge per lineal foot in the case of main extensions installed during the period December 15 to March 31, inclusive, to cover the increased cost of winter construction. Also, the cost of any permit or inspection fee established by governmental authority may be charged to the customer without refund. Proposed Rule 13 also establishes a refund period of five years for refundable customer payments, instead of the 10-year period provided by existing Rule 13.

Proposed Rule 13(b)(1), applicable to new customers on all rates except Rate F, provides that a main extension will be made without contribution from the customer whenever the estimated cost, including appropriate overhead allowances, for an extension of a size adequate to serve only the prospective customer or customers whom the Company believes will be connected during the first 12 months following completion of the main extension, does not exceed the amount of the estimated annual revenue to be derived from such customer or customers (or the estimated increase in annual revenue in the case of existing centrally metered customer(s) who desires to have his tenants individually metered). Present Rule 13 provides a construction allowance of two times the estimated annual revenue from customers who would be directly connected to the main extension.

Present Rule 13 includes in the cost of a gas main extension the cost of running a service line from the main to the nearest customer property line. Under the proposed Rules, this line is considered part of the customer service line and is paid for entirely by the customer as provided in proposed Rule 2, without refund.

Proposed Rule 13 effects no substantive changes in the policy on gas main extensions to customers served under Rate F.

Proposed Rule 13 changes the policy on refunds of customer contributions by reducing the refund period from ten years to five years. The refund amount with respect to commercial or industrial customers served on other than Rate F is reduced from two times actual annual revenue under the present Rule 13 to one times annual revenue under proposed Rule 13. For additional residential customers connected to the extension during the five-year refund period, the refund under the proposed Rule will be equal to the estimated annual revenue instead of twice estimated annual revenue as under the present Rule.

In addition to the foregoing, other changes to Rules 2, 4, 12(f) and 13 were proposed by the Company. The application of the Company in Case No. U-4676, together with copies of existing and proposed Rules 2, 4, 12(f) and 13, are available for public inspection at the offices of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913 and at each local office of Consumers Power Company.

Hearings on the application in Case No. U-4676 have been scheduled and notice is given that:

A. A public hearing will be held at 9:30 AM on January 21, 1975 in the offices of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan, for the purpose of determining whether or in what form Rules 2, 4, 12(f) and 13 of Consumers Power Company's Standard Rules and Regulations should be approved by the Commission,

B. Any party seeking to intervene in this proceeding, in accordance with Rule 11 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, shall file with the Commission at least five (5) days prior to January 21, 1975 an original and six (6) conformed copies of the Petition to Intervene, together with proof of service upon Consumers Power Company.

C. PROPOSED RULES 2, 4, 12(f) AND 13 DESCRIBED IN THIS NOTICE ARE IN THE FORM REQUESTED BY CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY. THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION MAY EITHER AUTHORIZE THEIR ADOPTION IN THE FORM REQUESTED, DENY THEIR ADOPTION, OR MAY ORDER THE ADOPTION OF NEW RULES 2, 4, 12(f) AND 13 IN A FORM DIFFERING FROM THAT DESCRIBED HEREIN.

Jurisdiction in this matter is pursuant to Section 4 of 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.54; Section 3 of 1923 PA 238, as amended, MCLA 486.253; Sections 4, 6 and 6a of 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.4, 460.6 and 460.6a; Chapter 4 of 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.271 et seq.; and the Rules of Practice and Procedure before the Commission, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R 460.11 et seq.

Former mayor led commission recall

PLYMOUTH—PAST AND PRESENT
by
Sam Hudson

Some said it all started when a resident of Plymouth phoned City Manager Harold Cheek to report that a dead chicken had been thrown on her lawn.

"What should I do with it?" she asked.

"Take it in the house and put it in a pot," responded Cheek, who never had time for small matters.

The story may be apocryphal but it illustrates the viewpoint of those who said the city manager didn't even know how to spell the word "diplomacy."

Cheek, the first professionally-trained city manager Plymouth had, did have his supporters. Most of the businessmen in town were for him. He was efficient, he knew his job, he tried to see that taxes were levied equitably, and he did not waste time in idle, small town, chit-chat.

But some citizens, and especially women, thought the city manager, who had been in the job about three years, was too brusque, not warm enough to be the chief executive officer of a small city like Plymouth. One of the people who was often at odds with Cheek was the former mayor, Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple, the leading female political figure in the city and then a member of the commission.

The atmosphere was charged. The explosion might never have taken place, however, if Cheek had not fired Lee Sackett, the chief of police, just two years before Sackett was due to retire.

That was the first in a series of events which divided the city, led to the recall of the mayor and three other commissioners, and forced the resignation of the city manager.

The contretemps began late in May 1949, when Cheek handed Sackett his walking papers. Sixty-three-year-old Sackett had been a policeman in Plymouth for 17 years. He had been chief of the department five years. He was a veteran of World War I, and a former commander of the Plymouth Ex-Servicemen's Organization.

Sackett refused to leave office. There had been no charges filed against him, he said, and no grounds for the firing. Assisted by his son-in-law, Kenneth Gust, a veteran of World War II, and commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, he hired a lawyer who got a temporary injunction.

The battle lines, which were never to dissolve until the special election more than three months later, were now drawn. Supporting Chief Sackett were the veterans' groups, the members of the Plymouth Citizens' League organized by Gust, and Commissioner Ruth Huston Whipple.

Supporting City Manager Cheek were four of the five commissioners—Mayor William C. Hartmann, Frank Henderson, Lewis H. Goddard, and James Latture. Upholding the commissioners was a "group of citizens, manufacturers, businessmen and taxpayers interested in good government in Plymouth," as they were described in ads they ran in the "Plymouth Mail."

The first petition drawn by the Plymouth Citizens' League in mid-June, and presented to the commission by Clifford Tillotson, demanded that the commissioners remove Cheek from office. The petition charged that the city manager had violated the city charter, mistreated the public and the city employes, encouraged secrecy in commission business, and was responsible for the high turnover in municipal personnel.

The petition, signed by 31 residents, included the names of Tillotson, Gust, and Charles H. Bennett, the venerable president of the Daisy Manufacturing Company. Along with the petition demanding Cheek's ouster, was another signed by 1,600 residents demanding that Sackett be retained in office.

Mayor Hartmann and three other commissioners came to the defense of Cheek. For two years prior to Cheek's firing of Sackett, they pointed out, the City had received many complaints from residents about the inadequacy of the police department.

During the prior year there had been a prowler scare in the city, with 66 complaints filed. Breaking and entering cases had increased. Traffic tickets had dropped from 1,972 in the year 1947 to only 485 in the current fiscal year, indicating, according to the commissioners, that the police department was lax.

The city manager, they said, had tried to dismiss Sackett quietly, rather than file charges, "so that a graceful retirement could be made without embarrassment to the chief." Besides, Sackett was eligible for full retirement pay.

The city manager was only attempting "to secure a better qualified and more competent chief of police." The commissioners cited evidence of non-cooperation, laxity and incompetence by Sackett. "It is believed," their statement read, "he has been encouraged to believe he is not responsible to the city manager by someone who should know better."

The last sentence may have been a thrust at the fifth member of the commission, Mrs. Whipple. She favored retaining Sackett and dumping Cheek, whose firing of the police chief she called "a high handed act."

After 50 years

'American Dream' getting smaller

A vital part of the "American Dream" for a long time the full-sized American automobile has meant status and affluence since the first one was built.

Massive in dimension, heavy and flashy with chrome, sculptured yachts of steel that cruise proudly over highways, big cars have enjoyed a sacred position in our society.

A gaping hole in the big car balloon has been slashed open, and a new phase in American design has begun. An attitude developed by the American public through 50 years of advertising that passed from generation to generation, will have to be altered.

Luxury has been the key ingredient in these particular cars. Deep, thick carpeting, sumptuously padded and elaborately decorated seats, power assists that handle almost every need including power door locks and trunk release and an endless stream of options and accessories allow owners to satisfy their most extravagant tastes.

The fullsized sedan has been a standard in this country for so long, that its existence has rarely been questioned until now.

People who were convinced that "longer, wider, heavier" was beneficial will have to re-evaluate their positions. Changes in automotive design will require that a completely new set of guidelines be used in judging a car's value. Old truths will be shattered and traditions will become obsolete, because for the first time in American car design, bigger is not better. This will not mean the end of comfortable cars; our automobiles will just take up less space, use less fuel, and be more sensible in every respect.

What is the cause for this turnaround in American car design? The most recent and undoubtedly the most critical problem facing Detroit is inflation.

Add inflation costs to the already staggering cost of government-ordered safety and pollution equipment, and it is easy to see the problem facing Detroit.

Along with these factors exists the permanent energy situation, which means higher prices for fuel, oil, and lubricants. Detroit's new directions don't seem radical or irrational considering these various points, but the American public will probably still take a while to warm up to these changes.

What Detroit is planning starting now has been the rule in Europe for years. It is apparent that European designs have had tremendous influence on Detroit's sporty cars in the past, but this is the first time American full-size cars will take on the size and appearance of foreign built sedans.

Luxury comes in small packages for '75: Nova LN

A European luxury sedan must do things that American luxury car buyers might find unusual. They must, for instance, seat four or five comfortably, have a spacious trunk area, be small in over-all dimensions and light in weight for greater fuel economy. Also they must handle and stop near sports-car-performance levels. This view of a luxury sedan might seem strange, but as a result Europeans are driving smaller, lighter, and more maneuverable automobiles that use less fuel.

By comparison view the American luxury car theory. Detroit designers have been applying stylish bodies to physically immense cars, vehicles advertised to seat five comfortably, but in reality barely seating four, with luggage space for only two.

A prime example of this has been an industry "rage" for the past five years, the "personal luxury car." This car usually has a long hood, short deck design theme, weighs more than 4,000 or sometimes five thousand pounds.

For their bulk and the great amount of raw materials used in their construction, the personal luxury car rarely carries more than two passengers. Why?

Because the back seat in most cases, is useless unless used by small children. This kind of wastefulness will be a thing of the past in Detroit from now on.

The differences between Detroit and Europe's automotive philosophies until now have been obvious. These will diminish during the next three model years.

From now on terms like "space utilization" and "size reduction" will be the vogue in Detroit. The new offerings from the Motor City will be smaller, lighter, have more interior space and will display more common sense because of new considerations in design than any vehicles that have previously rolled off an American assembly line.

The American public might have to wait until 1976 or '77 to see the complete changes in the industry, but they can begin to get a taste of what's to come from some of the '75 models.

The Ford Granada and Mercury Monarch are two examples of where Detroit is headed. These two vehicles are almost identically patterened after the Mercedes-Benz 280 (a perfect example of the "European luxury sedan" concept).

With a small, (by American standards), exterior and comfortable interior space, although lacking some of the Mercedes-Benz features, like 4-wheel disc brakes, Ford is a jump ahead of the rest of Detroit.

General Motors, however, hasn't been sleeping. Chevrolet is going in the smaller is better direction with its Nova LN which the company considers luxury in a smaller, more sensibly-sized package.

Oldsmobile has the Omega Salon, and Pontiac has the Ventura SJ, both highly European-flavored cars.

But the boldest step is surprisingly being taken by GM's Cadillac Division. Cadillac, a name which stands for the luxury car in the minds of some Americans is releasing a smaller vehicle this spring.

The new car will be called the LaSalle (a name first used in the 30's), and it will be slightly longer than the Nova LN. With Cadillac taking the plunge to smaller vehicles, be certain that Detroit is very serious about "bigger is not better."

These new changes will cause a mini-revolution in this country. The public will have to be re-educated about what constitutes good, efficient, automotive design.

Car salesmen will have to put on the shelf, reference material on the merits of owning a "big rider" to concentrate on what value means in today's automotive world.

After 50 bloated years, words like "small" and "efficient" may seem strange to a population infatuated with the big, imposing automobile. But with new car prices going up and up, the trend to smaller vehicles couldn't have come at a better time.

'75 Auto Show: Stargazing

"Flivvers" and the flicks will be the finds at the 1975, 59th Detroit Auto Show opening Saturday at Cobo Hall.

The theme of the 59th Detroit Auto Show is "Cars of The Stars." Among the famous cars ("Ride with the Famous and Infamous") at the show which will run through Jan. 19, will be Al Capone's Lincoln, Charlie Chaplin's Rolls Royce and a car owned by Rita Hayworth.

More than 250 domestic and imported automobiles and recreational vehicles will be on display at the show which is sponsored annually by the Detroit Auto Dealers Association.

In conjunction with the Michigan Lottery, a new show attraction will involve the million dollar drawing, plus daily drawings from lottery tickets purchased by Auto Show visitors worth $3,000.00 apiece to eight lucky winners and up to the price of the most expensive car on display for the ninth winner.

Jan. 13, the Michigan Lottery will conduct its million dollar drawing in Hall C at the Auto Show.

On the same night, another drawing, this time from lottery tickets purchased by visitors to the show on Monday, will take place and the winner will be given his choice of any one domestic car on display at the show. The winner will receive a duplicate of the car chosen.

On each of the other eight days of the show, a daily winner will be selected from among Michigan Lottery forms deposited each day by lottery ticket purchasers in receptacles in the Auto Show.

Each winner will receive a new car certificate worth $3,000.00 from the Michigan Lottery which can only be used as the down payment on the purchase of a domestic automobile of whatever make the winner selects.

Again, as in past years, the 1975 Detroit Auto Show will be preceded by a charity preview with proceeds going to Children's Hospital. Last year, more than $30,000 were raised and an electron microscope — a highly sophisticated piece of equipment which magnifies a specimen from 2,500 to 200,000 times — was purchased by the hospital.

This year's benefit will be held Friday (Jan. 10). The "Big Four" automotive company presidents and their wives will sponsor the event.

Governor William G. Milliken and his wife will serve as honorary sponsors. A buffet dinner will also be served in Cobo Hall on preview night.

For persons attending who appreciate auctions, the Auto Show is the place to be Tuesday through Friday, (Jan. 14-17). They can actively participate, or simply observe as a new 1975 automobile goes to the highest bidder each of these nights. The auction lineup includes an American Motors' Pacer, Chrysler Cordoba, Ford Granada, and a Chevrolet Monza.

Since 1975 has been officially proclaimed as "International Women's Year" by the Bicentennial Commission Jan. 15, will be designated "Women's Night."

This event will dramatize the increasing involvement of women in the design, styling, manufacturing as well as the purchasing of automobiles.

A special room in Cobo Hall will be set aside for an address by Birmingham resident Julie Candler of "Woman's Day" magazine. Ms. Joyce Garrett, director of the Detroit Bicentennial Commission will also participate in the program.

Urban car concept comes to life

'75 Gremlin fits the urban concept

In the wake of last year's energy crisis, the sub-compact car received a new importance in our society. The urban car concept that had been talked about in the past as a possibility for the future, became a reality for many people in 1974.

An urban car is what the name implies; a car that was designed for maneuverability and efficient operation in crowded city driving situations.

The urban car concept is helping develop new attitudes for some American car owners. It has become questionable whether it is necessary to wheel a big luxury car to work or to the supermarket, when a little smaller car would probably make the driving task a little easier.

The two and three-car family has been stereotyped in the past. A full-sized sedan for the head of the household along with a large station wagon for daily errands, and maybe a sporty intermediate for a son or daughter has been the mode.

It is in this family-car situation that the urban car is beginning to gain a foothold.

The head of the household might want to leave the luxury sedan at home in favor of a smaller and more agile vehicle. That station wagon previously used for shopping could be replaced by a sub-compact that's more economical to operate.

Re-thinking and re-evaluating the family vehicle situation is becoming a matter of common sense (or dollars and cents) to a lot of people.

It might become fairly common to see a garage with a Ford LTD along with a Pinto, or a Chevy Caprice with a Vega, or maybe even a Chrysler Imperial with a Honda Civic.

The family in one of these examples would have one car for luxury touring and another for utilitarian purposes.

The urban car concept will become even more important as automobile and fuel costs continue to rise.

The urban car may not be considered acceptable for single car families just yet, but for families with a need for two or more vehicles the mini-concept is becoming a valid alternative to the congestion problems of urban traffic.

Maintenance a must for longevity

The automobile is a major investment for most people, but it is amazing how many people tend to forget it. The car, in addition to being a major financial decision, is a major factor in day-to-day safety.

If you take care of your vehicle, it most likely will take care of you.

As most people find out, maintaining a car can be a large pain in the neck. If a vehicle needs servicing, schedules have to be juggled in order to keep a service appointment and some other means of transportation must be arranged.

Then one might have to contend with the frustration of poorly done work, or even more disturbing, a job that wasn't completed at all.

Add to these factors the high cost of servicing and it is understandable why people become disenchanted with the whole process to the point of abandoning it all together.

The problems involved with vehicle maintenance is no way diminish the importance of it. Preventive maintenance in many ways can save money, by repairing or replacing worn parts when necessary before it becomes too late or prohibitively expensive later.

Too often people fuss over their vehicles only prior to long trips, failing to realize that an improperly maintained car can cause as much trouble going to the store, as to the next state.

This article will cover some basic car maintenance tips both mechanical and cosmetic, that should help in keeping a car safer now and more valuable for future sale.

OWNER'S MANUAL — Just about everything in car maintenance is explained in your owner's manual; it's unfortunate that more people don't sit down and read this booklet when they but a car. The manual covers everything an owner should do with respect to keeping his car in proper working order. It can't be stressed enough that you should become familiar with its contents.

TIRES — Since the new radial tires cost more, it would seem sensible to take care of them and get the most out of your investment. But this concern shouldn't apply only to radials, but to all tires.

People who believe they are saving money by allowing their tires to wear dangerously thin, are making a potentially deadly mistake. It is easy to do; you can put it off for a long time and still get away with it—hopefully.

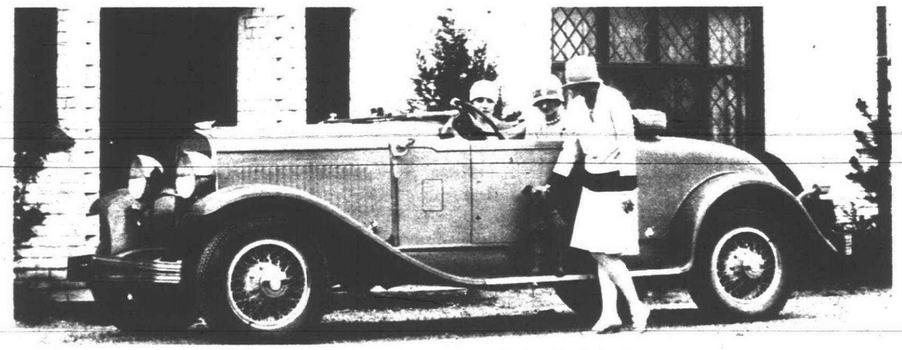
To avoid this situation, always make sure tires are properly inflated. A tire gauge would be a wise investment, but a small portable air tank (found at camping stores) would be even better.



Good car maintenance can yield the classic look

This air tank would also allow checking and filling tires while they are "cold," which is the way the manufacturers recommend doing the job. Properly cared for tires will last longer and give an extra margin of safety.

OIL — Learn to check oil at home; be sure of an accurate reading, and you might be able to save some time at the gas station. An engine lives on oil, so take the recommended precautions. Damaged or blown engines are very expensive to fix.

WATER — Make certain your vehicle has the proper coolant/anti-freeze level in both winter and summer. These modern engines can run extremely hot, and your car's water is another "critical" area that needs occasional attention.

BRAKES — It is hard to imagine that people wait for their brake pedal to start going to the floor before getting their brakes checked. If there is one item that should never be left for the last possible moment in car servicing, it is brakes.

The car owner should take the responsibility to have the brakes working properly at all times. "I couldn't stop" would be a very poor excuse in an accident, if the brakes were barely functioning.

LIGHTING — It is one thing to have a light go out and not know it; it is quite another to let the problem go unattended. First of all, give yourself a fighting chance in night driving.

If one of your lights does a fine job in illuminating house numbers, something is wrong. At night you should have the best lighting possible. Keep headlights clean and make sure they are aimed properly.

Give the "other" guy" a chance, too. Make sure head lights, directional signals and back up lights are working properly. Don't keep the person behind guessing as to which way you are going to go.

COSMETIC APPEARANCE — Back in the old days" most people washed their own vehicles, but that practice has definitely been on the decline in recent years.

Automatic car washes have replaced the bucket and sponge routine, and not many people seem to be complaining. After all, the winter months around here tend to get very cold, and no one is interested in washing their cars when it is 20°F!

This argument makes good sense, but let's look at some of the cars that were new last September, right now.

Some of the vinyl tops look dirty—even after going through a wash. Chrome that appears fine from a distance, is actually dull up close and paint that is flat, instead of glossy, even on a "clean" car. You don't have to go out of your way to see examples of this.

Is there any simple solution? Solution, yes, simple or convenient, no. Some owners never take their vehicles through car washes.

When it becomes too cold to hand wash their cars, these people flock to the quarter spray washes. These washes are done by hand and accumulated road salt can be removed not only from the finish, but from underneath (wheel wells, etc.) as well. This method may sound extreme, but valid results can be obtained.

If really interested in maintaining a car's appearance waxing is essential. Waxing should be done a minimum of four times each year, but even in Michigan that is not enough.

Although new car finishes are tougher each year, wax is still necessary. Now before someone says, "I get wax every time I go to the car wash" let's clear up something right now.

There is only one kind of waxing that does an effective job, and that is by hand. No "easy" method exists; you have to roll up your sleeves and get to work.

Taking care of a vehicle's finish is up to you. Wax, chrome cleaner and vinyl top cleaner, are all additional expenses that people don't really want to put up with, but exterior care would be a worthwhile habit to get into.

In summary, mechanical and cosmetic maintenance of a vehicle should not be taken lightly. It is not only resale money that is involved, but the safety of driver and passengers as well.

Read the owner's manual. It's not there to fill the space in the glove compartment. By following the manual closely and keeping track of service intervals, you will stay ahead in the maintenance battle.

The Small Fury is designed with simple grace and proportion . . . with a variety of expressions to suit wants, whims or needs. Everything from posh to the practicality of room for six. Pizazz to performance.

Cordoba is precisely what you'd expect a small Chrysler to be. Tastefully designed. Masterfully engineered. Fully appointed. You can even order seats in warm velour or fine Corinthian leather.

If still smaller cars are more your style, we invite you to wander over to the 1975 versions of America's best-selling compacts: Duster, Scamp, and Valiant, America's No. 1 selling small car in '74.

along with anti-sway bars. Heavy-duty suspension or the "ride and handling" package is what is commonly called an "active" safety item.

"Active" means it increases a vehicle's ability to avoid an uncomfortable situation on the road before it occurs. This is the exact opposite of the "passive" safety equipment for cars that one hears so much about.

Passive safety items — air bags, five-MPH bumpers, etc., protect you from accidents, the assumption being that you won't be able to avoid it.

It is likely that most people would like to be able to avoid a nasty situation, rather than plowing straight ahead into one! Ride and handling packages, quicker steering, disc brakes, and a good set of tires all contribute to the "active" safety program.

TIRES

Are radial tires as good as everyone says they are?

No, they are better than that.

Radials corner better, stop quicker, give better traction in rain and snow, have less rolling resistance, give better fuel economy and last a lot longer.

It can't be emphasized enough that radial tires, along with the improved suspension systems that come with them, should be ordered on a new car. Never mix radials and regular bias belted tires on the same vehicle, however. Radial tires handle and react differently from bias belted tires in varying road conditions. Mixing them will adversely affect a vehicle's stability.

TRANSMISSIONS

Automatic transmissions are just about standard equipment on most new cars sold today. However, a great many small cars do not take to their automatics very well.

The small car's engine works hard as it is, but with added "air", power steering, power brakes and an automatic transmission, it might not be able to get out of its own way. If looking for a small car, test drive both versions, manual and automatic, then decide. Manual transmissions are lighter, run cooler and give better fuel economy. A small car's transmission can make a critical difference in performance.

It is also expensive, but it can add to a vehicle's resale value.

Two warnings: Think about air conditioning before ordering it with small engines. Besides fuel and weight penalties, the smaller motor will have to contend with air conditioning's power drag.

When an extra burst of acceleration is needed, "air" can really strangle a small motor's already minimal performance. After you decide on "air," get it factory installed. The aggravation saved by getting it on the car to begin with is well worth the factory's price.

BATTERIES

With electronic ignition systems on '75 cars, a heavy duty battery might not be as critical. However, if you do want that extra power reserve, the H.D. battery is a fairly inexpensive option that might come in handy on a bitter cold winter morning.

BRAKES

Most new cars in '75 have standard front disc brakes if the car you want doesn't, order them. Disc brakes are a direct development of racing cars, and they are superior to conventional drum-type brakes.

Four-wheel disc brakes are even better, but only a few '75 models are available with them. Disc brakes are a valid safety item, and they should be a "must" on everyone's new car order form.

DEFOGGERS vs. DEFROSTERS

Anyone living in a part of the country that has measurable amounts of snow in the winter, should have a rear window defroster.

Many people settle for the blower defogger, along with a little scraping, but there really is only one way to keep that back window relatively clear: order the electrically heated rear window option.

Those electric lines across the back window will be more than just a convenience they will help visibility.

This is another option that should be ordered from the factory. Install-it-yourself equipment will never do as complete a job of keeping that back window clear.

PAINTS

A car's color can be important, too. Most new fire trucks are either white or bright yellow, because red has very poor visibility at night.

Light colors are more visible at night and in poor visibility conditions. If you don't order "air" consider a light color which will reduce interior temperatures dramatically. Light colors will always reflect the sun's rays more than dark colors.

RADIATORS

A heavy duty radiator option should be available for most cars in '75, and it might not be a bad idea to order the optional cooling equipment as an added precaution. Most trailer towing options contain such radiator equipment already.

REAR AXLES

Special fuel-saving rear axles are readily available for 1975. Rear axle ratios that are lower numerically (2.73:1 as opposed to 3.73:1) allow the engine to work less at the desired speed.

Acceleration suffers noticeably though, when trying to enter freeways or in similar power situations. Most people with big cars go with the numerically lower axle ratios; they lose some acceleration but are also able to get improved mileage on the highway.

Also, there is a limited-slip rear axle available on most cars. The standard rear axle drives only one rear wheel, while the limited-slip drives the rear wheel having the most traction. For example, if the right rear wheel is on ice but the left rear wheel is on a dry surface, the limited-slip would allow the free left rear wheel to continue driving the car. When driving in an area that has snow and ice during the winter, the limited-slip rear axle is another option to consider.

SUSPENSIONS

Detroit, in most cases, has come a long way in the past few years with regard to suspension development. Following Europe's lead, Detroit has redesigned its suspension systems to take advantage of the radial tire.

Maneuverability of our cars has been greatly improved as a result. However, "ride and handling" suspension packages that can improve a vehicle's handling performance even more, are available on many cars from Detroit.

These packages consist of improved springs and shock absorbers

SEE OLDSMOBILE '75

Meet Omega Salon—our luxurious compact for drivers who like the looks and comforts of imported touring cars. It's got the touches you like—but at an Olds price. Choice of coupe, hatchback or four-door.

Toronado—America's first contemporary personal luxury car with front wheel drive. It pulls you around turns and along straightaways with outstanding traction. Toronado and Toronado Brougham models.

Cutlass Supreme—now our "little limousine" is big on luxuries, yet it offers improved operating economy. One of eleven mid-sized Cutlass models—including station wagons—that are very right for the times.

98 Regency—The most comfortable, most thoroughly luxurious Oldsmobile ever built. Magnificent "loose-cushion" look interiors, and a distinctive new look in both six-window sedan and coupe models.

Delta 88—our full-size family car never looked better—but it's more than just another pretty car. It's really built for the long miles. 7 models, including a convertible, with room and comfort for a growing family.

Introducing Starfire (below)—the little Olds you didn't expect. It's a sporty little four-seater that's smaller than a compact... easy on gas... but a bonafide Supercoupe in looks, features and spirit on the road!

IT'S A GOOD FEELING TO HAVE AN OLDS AROUND YOU.

Every '75 Olds has a new Maximum Mileage System that helps make it a better car in several ways:

The System represents the most advanced engineering and technology we can build into a '75 Olds. It includes a new catalytic converter (see below)—and a lot more.

There's a new high-energy ignition, for a hotter spark and improved ignition performance. Redesigned carburetors that improve cold starts, hot starts, and the efficiency of fuel consumption.

Elsewhere in the power train, Oldsmobile engineers also adjusted shift points in transmissions. Installed low-ratio economy axles. And they made GM-specification steel-belted radial tires standard.

As you can see, we've done a lot to improve the gas mileage capability of every 1975 Oldsmobile.

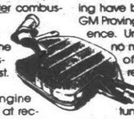
GM

New Catalytic Converter—designed for long life.

This "pod" full of platinum-palladium coated beads provides a new way to reduce most emissions—after combustion, in the exhaust.

It does a more effective job—and it eliminates some of the gas-robbing, combustion-stage controls of the past.

If unleaded gas is used exclusively and normal engine maintenance is performed at recommended intervals, there is no reason why the catalytic converter should not last the life of the car. In all, over 25 million miles of developmental testing have been completed both at the GM Proving Ground and in field experience. Under normal circumstances, no maintenance or replacement of the catalytic converter is recommended.



Best of all, it allowed Oldsmobile engineers to retune the engines to run smoother, require less periodic maintenance—and give better MPG than last year.

Always expect the unexpected

If a light rain storm occurs these oils tend to come up through that surface. This creates a slick road surface that catches many people off guard. Oil on the road is similar to having a thin layer of ice covering the road's surface, resulting in an abrupt loss of traction.

Extra caution is needed, then, even in the lightest rain conditions.

Another dangerous situation is driving over "sheets" of water on the highway. The hazardous effect is known as "aquaplaning," when tires actually lift off the road surface and ride on a thin cushion of water.

A complete loss of steering control can result because of the "aquaplaning" effect. Although many radial tires have advanced tread designs that disperse water rapidly, "aquaplaning" still can occur particularly at higher speeds. Try to avoid puddles or "sheets" of water whenever possible while driving; this will make driving in the rain that much safer.

DRIVING ON SNOW AND ICE — Snow and ice conditions cause the greatest problems for most drivers. Once again the difficulties stem from a basic lack of understanding.

Just as in rain, stopping distances have to be adjusted for the reduced traction available with ice and snow.

Brake modulation becomes a very critical factor here. Locking brakes on ice or hard-packed snow is a useless exercise. A gradual and gentle application of brakes provides the most efficient stops in snow or ice conditions.

The same can be said for moving forward in your vehicle. Jamming the accelerator to the floor in snow not only doesn't get you going any faster, but it also wastes fuel. Gradual acceleration up to speed is the quickest way to get moving in snow and ice.

Driving in cold weather conditions can be made easier by making sure all of the windows, along with the headlights, turn signals, and tail lights are cleared of any ice and snow which has accumulated. It is worth the extra trouble to be able to see clearly instead of driving "blind."

COMMON SENSE DRIVING — This sounds like a noble phrase, and it is too bad that this statement is being ignored by many drivers today.

Common sense driving includes a number of things, but it is mainly related to "using your head."

Basic tips that could give you a head start on the way to becoming a "common sense driver," follow.

It is bad that this next item must be mentioned so often, but, anyone who thinks he can handle a vehicle while intoxicated as well as he can sober is a fool.

Drunk driving is the largest single factor in automobile accidents today Eliminating the drunk from the highway would do more for auto safety than any safety option that we have now, or that is being planned for the future.

If you are going to drink, please don't drive.

The words "sure thing" do not apply on the highway. As was said before, never assume anything.

Remember that panic never solves anything behind the wheel. Be aware of your ability and your vehicle's capability, then compensate accordingly.

AMERICAN MOTORS

Compared to the Big Three, 1974 was a very good year for American Motors. AMC had the small cars at the right time which resulted in a larger share of the market.

For 1975 AMC is concentrating even more on their smaller vehicles and the Javelin and the Ambassador will not be offered.

A new model called the "Pacer" will be offered in February, but the only details available at this time is that it will have a 100-inch wheel base and a great deal of interior space.

Throughout the industry, economy and efficiency are the major "new" improvements for '75, and AMC goes along with the trend.

Catalytic converters and electronic ignitions are standard throughout the AMC line. An overdrive option is offered for six-cylinder Hornets and Gremlins with manual transmissions.

It's the same for disc brakes — only the Matador has them as standard equipment. AMC offers four engines for '75, two V8's (304 and 360 CID) and two sixes (232 and 258 CID).

Because of the converter and electronic ignition the tune-up intervals will be farther apart on all AMC engines.

AMC will continue to offer several different interior packages in '75 for all its models, including a LEVI's option for the Jeep.

With costs accelerating upward, the future looks bright for the company that was practically dead not long ago.

When buying a car

Buying a new car can be a bewildering experience — if you are not prepared. There is a lot more to it than just dollars and cents. A primary consideration that gets minimal attention is the reason for buying the car in the first place.

For what will the car be used most frequently?

Will it be used for commuting, shopping, business, or pleasure? Or will this vehicle have to be a compromise, a car that will be called on to do several things well.

Many people obviously haven't devoted enough thought to these factors. The sight of housewives doing their errands in nine-passenger stations wagons is a good indication of that.

How often does the family really use all the space in that wagon? How much money is being wasted on extra fuel because of poor vehicle selection? It is clear that important decisions must be made before even looking at an order blank.

After making your mind up on the type of car you want, the options and accessories you select will be an equally critical decision.

People are seldom aware of the contents of those option lists, other than the comfort and luxury items. This is unfortunate because that option list can determine fuel economy, handling performance, and even the safety of the vehicle.

It also affects the price, and how happy you will be with a car a few years later.

In order to reduce some of the confusion involved with option lists here is a rundown on some common and not-so-common optional equipment.

AIR CONDITIONING

Air conditioning is great no doubt about it. It keeps one cool and fresh on miserably hot days; it allows for windows to be up, which reduces noise and wind resistance, and it is a luxury item that more and more people choose every day.

However, "air" adds weight to a vehicle, uses additional fuel when in operation and raises engine operat-

CHRYSLER CORPORATION

Chrysler is now in an advantageous position. The Plymouth and Dodge compacts that were such a big hit last year are again available in '75.

It would seem natural then, for Chrysler to give these cars even more attention in this year of staggering prices, but this isn't exactly what they seem to have in mind.

This market has been around since '70, and the crest may have been reached in '73, but Chrysler is entering the market in '75. Only time will tell if this decision will be proved right or wrong.

Chrysler in '75 has catalytic converters and electronic ignitions, going along again with the rest of the industry. Chrysler has a new comprehensive warranty program for '75 that includes fixing anything during the first 12 months of operation (excluding tires) free of charge, regardless of mileage.

Chrysler's big cars have minor changes only in '75. Chrysler's money is in the Cordoba and Charger SE for '75, the new "personal luxury car" entries. These two cars have all the luxury and comfort options common with other vehicles in the class.

In other changes the Dodge Monaco and Dart have minor alterations, while the Cornet receives a new body for '75. Plymouth has dropped the Satellite name and replaced it with the Fury, Gran Fury, and Gran Fury Brougham.

Valiants are improved with an improved three-speed transmission and an overdrive option for the manual transmission.

Chrysler will rely on fuel economy, the Valiant and Dart, and a new warranty for '75. Chrysler will also be hoping that the "personal luxury car" market will be around at least one more year.

Safety begins behind the wheel

No matter how safe a vehicle, or how safe the road, people are going to be killed driving automobiles. No amount of government legislation regarding the automobile, and no amount of dollars spent on improving our highways, can compensate for the single most critical factor: the driver.

Traffic fatalities in the past 10 years have been blamed on a number of things, from lethal automobiles and excessive speed, to holiday traffic volumes and poor weather.

Government transportation officials, politicians, and individuals speaking out on the annual automobile death toll of 50,000 persons, have touched on a number of these reasons in the past.

But the factor probably most responsible for traffic fatalities, the driver, has received comparatively minimal attention.

The most popular scapegoat for traffic deaths has been the "unsafe" automobile. The thinking being that if automobiles are made safer, traffic fatalities would diminish.

There was a witty phrase circulating a few years back concerning the government's role in automotive safety, "cars can't vote," so rather than put the public in an uncomfortable position, the politicians would take it upon themselves to make vehicles more crash proof.

But after all is said and legislated, the driver is still the most important safety feature known to exist.

It is the driver who makes the decisions, it is the driver who makes the mistakes. Granted various factors are involved in all car accidents, but the most critical ingredient is the person behind the steering wheel.

Millions and millions of dollars have been spent since 1967 on automobile safety. Yet, people still die driving automobiles.

Why?

The answer unfortunately has been swept under the rug by concentrating too much on vehicle safety. The warnings given constantly through the media about safe driving tend to be ignored.

Most people would agree that safe driving is good theory. Most people also agree that a little extra care and preparation would be wise when it comes to operating an automobile.

The trouble is that everyone might agree on the proper thing to do, but practicing it is a different matter. Following are some very basic driving tips. By practicing just one of them, you might become a better driver.

ATTITUDE — Attitudes concerning driving and other drivers, is very important. It is up to you whether driving a car is something you take for granted, or a skillful enterprise that you pride yourself in doing well.

A healthy driving attitude is one in which you respect the automobile as an efficient and safe means of getting from one place to another.

An unhealthy attitude is one in which you don't respect the automobile, or are not realistic about the job your vehicle was actually meant to do. A vehicle in the wrong hands can be a lethal weapon.

One way to help develop a good driving attitude is to instill the word "caution" in your mind. Saying "it can't happen to me" is a perfect example of a poor driving attitude.

The point to remember is that it very definitely can happen to you. Never assume that a person in front of you sees you in his rearview mirror.

Never assume that someone will stop for a stop sign, turn in the direction he is signaling, or stay faithfully in his lane.

Never assume a child or a dog will stay on the side of the road without darting out.

Being mentally prepared is another factor in a good driving attitude; concentration is the key word. If one talked to professional racers like Mario Andretti, Emerson Fittipaldi, or A. J. Foyt, they would stress the importance of concentration.

At the speeds they race, concentration of the highest degree is absolutely essential. However, they would probably say concentration is as important when driving on the highway, as it is on the race track at 180 MPH.

Driving concentration means this: when you are behind the wheel, your only concern should be the job at hand. What is going on in front of your vehicle, next to you, or behind you should be of utmost concern.

Good driving requires complete attention at all times. If you can develop a healthy driving attitude, you would be doing yourself a big favor.

DRIVING POSITION — In order to concentrate on driving, the driving position deserves some attention. It's grand if a car has a seat like a reclining chair or a luxurious couch, but it should not interfere with the job at hand.

Make sure you are able to operate the pedals adequately and reach the steering wheel with both hands. Adjust both side and inside rear view mirrors.

If you want to ride rather than drive that's fine; just don't attempt to do both. The driving position should be comfortable, but not to the point where driving become secondary.

SEAT BELTS AND SHOULDER HARNESSES — Question: If you didn't have the interlock system, would you wear your seat belt and shoulder harness?

Everyone probably has made up his mind about seat belts and harnesses; either you wear them or you don't. Everyone is probably also aware of what could happen if he isn't wearing any belts when an accident occurs.

It would be more serious than a bloody nose. Remember that the inconvenience of belts and harnesses would be very slight next to hospitalization or plastic surgery.

BRAKING — A serious deficiency of many drivers is that they aren't aware of their vehicle's true braking capability.

Improper application of brakes can get a car into a lot of trouble, especially on the freeway.

Good braking is a very sensitive procedure. Using brakes too hard will cause wheel lock-up, and a complete loss of effective vehicle control.

On the other hand, not enough pressure on the brake pedal might cause one to end up in someone else's trunk.

The key to good braking is modulation. Having a "feel" for the car's brakes can help avoid an ugly situation. It also helps to keep an adequate distance between you and the vehicle in front of you. If you have a keen understanding of your car's braking performance capability, driving would be appreciably safer for everyone concerned.

FREEWAY DRIVING — For many people freeway driving can be a terrifying experience. In some cases this is good if people develop a more cautious attitude, but in most cases it is bad because people tend to panic.

Driving on the freeway requires just as much concentration as any other road, but the speeds required are faster than a lot of people are used to.

The most dangerous part of freeway traveling is going mile after mile without interruption. Your mind can begin to wander, and you can forget about speed and stopping distance. In addition, your reaction time will be affected by the monotony.

To avoid this, keep eyes moving from the road in front to two rearview mirrors. This keeps one alert and lengthens attention spans.

Serious freeway accidents occur when people aren't able to stop in time, usually in a chain of several vehicles. Give yourself an advantage on the freeway; don't focus your attention exclusively on the vehicle in front.

Look ahead at the line of cars in front of you, watching for brake lights and slower traffic. By checking the traffic flow ahead, you will be better prepared for any sudden slowdown that otherwise might have caught you off guard.

Freeway driving doesn't have to be a traumatic experience. With a little extra care, it can be a very safe way to get from place to place.

DRIVING IN RAIN — Rain seems to cause a lot of problems for most people, but the problem can be attributed to fear and lack of understanding more than anything else. Driving in rain requires certain precautions over and above the normal driving procedures.

Visibility isn't as good in the rain. Stopping distances will be longer because of reduced traction. The chances for wheel lock-up under braking is also greater on wet pavement. It would be wise to give some extra "breathing space" in relation to the vehicle in front.

One caution about driving in the rain is especially important during the warm summer months. Most people do slow down in heavy rain conditions, but many drivers are not aware of the hazards involved in a brief rain "shower."

During the summer time there might be several days, or even weeks between rain storms. In these "dry" periods oils become imbedded in the road surface.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

Ford has created for 1975 and the future a new class of cars with the new Granada and Mercury Monarch. These cars have reduced exterior bulk and vehicle weight while still retaining comfortable interior space.

Fuel economy and common sense size are being stressed in these cars by Ford.

The two new cars are openly patterned after the Mercedes-Benz 280 series and because of rising costs these cars are a good indication of what the new American full-size cars will be like in the coming years.

Ford's 1975 Maverick four-door model

Available in both two and four-door versions, these two vehicles represent the future right now.

The two-door versions will create a new definition for the "personal luxury car" class, maybe even signaling the end of the current crop of Monte Carlo-size vehicles.

The Granada and Monarch represent the boldest steps taken by an automaker to take the word "smaller" to the masses in an attractive, luxurious, and comfortable package.

Changes in the Ford division lineup include a 302 V8 for the Mustang II and some plush optional interiors. The Pinto now has optional V6 engines, while the Maverick remains basically unchanged.

The Torino has some more equipment listed as standard, while the Gran Torino has a new grille. Ford's strong entry to the "personal luxury car" field last year, the Elite, received only minor changes for '75.

The Thunderbird's most notable change for '75 is an optional four-wheel disc brake system, along with an even longer list of optional luxury items.

Mercury Division's shining light this year is the Monarch, which has some front and rear differences to distinguish it from the Granada.

Mercury will also get a version of the Pinto, called the Bobcat. The Cougar, which might become the Mark IV next year, is basically the same.

The reason the Cougar could become a new Continental next year would be for cost savings and fuel economy. The full-size Mercurys have some new luxury interiors, and the Marquis and Continentals will have a four-wheel disc brake option.

Ford Motor Company, with the new Granada and Monarch, has a one-year head start on the future and the rest of the industry. The development of the new sensibly-sized and efficient American sedans is off to a good start.

GENERAL MOTORS

The 1975 Chevrolet Monza 2 plus 2

Sales tumbled and cold facts were hard to ignore. GM has responded positively for '75, improving existing models and adding some new small cars to its divisions.

In addition, all GM cars have economy improvements for '75 including electronic ignitions, catalytic converters, economy-axle ratios and radial tires.

The new small cars for GM that fit into the Mustang II category are the Buick Skyhawk, Chevy Monza 2 + 2, and the Oldsmobile Starfire.

These three vehicles share the same stunning body design with rectangular headlamps and sloping roof lines. These new sport/luxury small cars from GM set the style pace for the entire industry in 1975.

The Buick and Olds versions have V6's, while the Monza has a standard Vega four-cylinder with an optional 262 CID V8.

The regular Buick line has a major change in the new Apollo body style with a European appearance. Minor changes in the rest of the line include

Cadillac's elegant Eldorado

A special "stripped" version of the Buick Century that stresses economy will ironically be called the "Special."

Cadillac has used new front-end treatments across the board to take advantage of the now legal rectangular headlamps. Another noticeable Cadillac change is the removal of the rear fender skirts from the Eldorado.

Chevrolet, GM's sales leader, continues with some changes this year. Besides the Monza, the biggest news from Chevy this year is the re-styled Nova.

The LN Nova is the car that will compete directly with Ford's Granada and Monarch. The LN has handling improvements and luxury features that make it the new "flagship" for Chevrolet.

Chevelle has minor styling changes and the Monte Carlo has a new grille. The Vega has engineering and luxury improvements for '75 and the Camaro has a new wrap around rear window.

The Corvette has become a luxury car which handles and stops well; it cannot be considered a sports car any longer.

Oldsmobile has the Starfire and the restyled Omega for '75, the Omega has a Salon package similar to the LN Nova. The Cutlass has a variety of new front ends to choose from, and the Toronado has rectangular headlights.

The full-sized Oldsmobiles have detail changes only for '75. One interesting option from Olds (available on certain models) are the reversible seat cushions.

Pontiac's new small car, called the Astre, is really a restyled Vega. The Astre will be available in various luxury/economy versions.

The Firebird has new grille work and a wrap-around rear window, and the Le Mans line has new front end treatments. The full size Pontiacs have minor front end changes.

GM has responded to the problems of '74 with a stronger sales base for '75 in all of its divisions.

LET YOUR FREE SPIRIT BE YOUR GUIDE.

The Buick/Opel exhibit offers you one of the broadest displays of cars in the industry. And it offers you the opportunity to express yourself as never before. To exercise your choices. To peruse your alternatives. To contemplate your decisions. In short, it represents an opportunity for you to be your own free spirit, in your own special way.

SKYHAWK. The smallest Buick in 60 years. And the sportiest ever, obviously.

To tell the truth, we at Buick just can't help chortling about the Skyhawk. Not just because it's something of a departure for us. But because it's so good at being what it's supposed to be. A small and agile little car, rakishly good looking, that can be practical and make your heart beat faster both at the same time.

Naturally, Skyhawk offers standard features dedicated to quick, responsive movement. Buick's new V-6. Front and rear stabilizer bars. Power front disc brakes. GM-Specification steel-belted radial-ply tires. A 4-speed manual transmission.

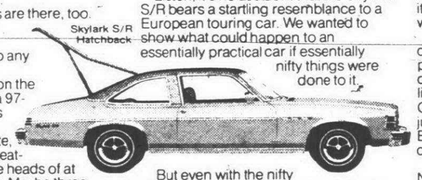
Instead let's focus on the totality. A Buick with a 97-inch wheelbase that's reasonably priced, economical to operate, fun to drive, and so neat-looking it can turn the heads of at least two generations. Maybe three.

Skyhawk Hatchback



Skylark S/R Hatchback

THE NEW BUICK V-6. A six that we think even you V-8 fans will like.

It's time that we shook up your thinking a tad. Because, if you're like a lot of people, you think of a six as something just to save money with. Which is simply no longer true because of Buick's new V-6. Something altogether different from a straight-six.

The "vee" design incorporates a shorter crankshaft. The piston stroke is shorter. The engine weighs less than Buick's straight-six. And the horsepower is greater.

All in all, Buick's V-6 shares many of the design concepts of a Buick V-8, but with generally greater fuel economy.

One thing's for sure. This engine is going to change the way a lot of people feel about six-cylinder engines.

SKYLARK S/R. Skylark is back, with V-6 power, a European touring car-like interior, and a sporty new look. It joins other Apollo models as sort of the Executive's Economy Car.

What better way to bring back the Skylark name than with bucket seats (the passenger's reclines), GM-Specification steel-belted radial-ply tires, sporty cloth-and-vinyl upholstery, a rallye steering wheel, a great new 3.8 liter (231-cubic-inch) V-6 engine, center console, map pockets, and the like.

Listen, it's no accident that the Skylark S/R bears a startling resemblance to a European touring car. We wanted to show what could happen to an essentially practical car if essentially nifty things were done to it.

But even with the nifty things we've done to it, Skylark S/R isn't any less frugal with a gallon of gas.

And it's still reasonable in terms of price. It's just that it also happens to be fun to drive... most enjoyable to sit in... and more interestingly appointed than a practical, economical car is supposed to be.

You've already had the word on Buick's V-6. How peppery it is. How efficient. It certainly won't hold Regal back. (Of course, our 5.7 liter V-8 is available on Century if you insist on those two extra cylinders.)

Century Regal Coupe

Also standard is a nit-picky kind of attitude toward sound-deadening. Riding smoothness. And toward the quantity and quality of Century's appointments.

That fussiness about things seen and unseen in the Century Regal is what distinguishes it as a Buick. And what makes it—we said it before but it bears repeating—one of America's most impressive mid-sized cars.

ELECTRA PARK AVENUE. Anytime you can buy a Buick this spectacular, well, you needn't wander off looking for something better.

You get a hint from the special "halo" vinyl top that something special is going on here. But we'd have to say that the real story is on the inside (as it really should be in any luxury car worthy of the title).

In front, you have individual easy-chair seating for both driver and front passenger. And all the seating is covered with velour, loosely draped like on fine furniture, and very soft. Overhead, more velour—just as soft and just as rich looking. Even the extra-large console is covered with velour.

The carpeting is of the shag variety. Not so unusual in a fine home, but special indeed in an automobile.

Electra Park Avenue 4-door Hardtop

So when you finally decide that the family car is going to be a LeSabre, the rewards are visible and immediate.

LeSabre Sport Coupe

Performance. The 5.7 liter V-8 has High-Energy Ignition and several other refinements that help increase operating performance. (More on that a little later.)

The suspension is the kind that has given Buick its reputation for smoothness.

Riviera Sport Coupe

RIVIERA. It's hard to believe that anything this well-built and richly-appointed can be so much fun to drive.

To really understand Riviera, you've got to take your eyes off the square headlamps, ignore all the luxury for a moment, and fix your attention dead-center on the following:

A standard 7.5 liter V-8 engine with High-Energy Ignition and other performance-promoting refinements. GM-Specification steel-belted radial-ply tires. Front stabilizer bar. Four coil springs. Highly readable and informative instrumentation.

Then you have to drive Riviera.

Only then are you allowed to savor the classic styling. The standard power windows. The standard notchback seating. The standard tilt steering wheel. And all the other creature comforts Riviera indulges you with.

The point is that you appreciate Riviera for the very special kind of car it is. Luxurious. Even a little snobbish. But more than prepared to hold its own in motion.

Our import model. Lovingly created in Germany. The heart of Manta's free spirit is its rugged 1.9 liter cam-in head 4-cylinder engine, its rack-and-pinion steering and front and rear coil spring suspension with front and rear stabilizer bars. All standard. As for Manta's design appeal, it's there in abundance. Not to mention Manta's reclining bucket seats and aircraft-style instrumentation. You'll like it a lot.
